

YANKS DEFEAT CARDS IN TENTH, 3-2

CLAIM DIVER DIED SEEKING AIMEE'S BODY

Comrade Will Tell of Efforts to Recover "Corpse" from Bay

ORDERED TO PERSIST
District Attorney Keyes Announces Discovery of New Evidence

Los Angeles—(AP)—Efforts to obtain new evidence in charting the California-Arizona trail, blazed by Aimee Semple McPherson during her absence from Angelus temple, occupied District Attorney Asa Keyes as he summoned more witnesses for the resumption of the evangelist's preliminary hearing Thursday.

Pending their arrival, Keyes indicated a desire to recount efforts of Fred Harrison, a deep sea diver, to recover the evangelist's body from Santa Monica bay where she was thought to have drowned when she disappeared May 18. Harrison died of pneumonia after several days of diving and the story of his search will be told by Robert D. Hunt, a fellow diver.

DIVER TO TESTIFY
Hunt is expected to testify he was engaged by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, to aid Harrison in the search, and that he was instructed to continue diving after he had told her there was no body in the surf.

Keyes Wednesday announced discovery of new evidence to prove his charge that the evangelist was not kidnapped, in the statement of two witnesses from G. A. Bend, Ariz., who declared the evangelist passed through there in an automobile at the time she says she was held for ransom. The statements were obtained from F.
Blevins, telegraph operator, and Frank D. Day, freight agent for the Southern Pacific railroad at Glendale.

WANT SECRET BALLOT BEFORE CALLING STRIKE

Scarborough, England—(AP)—The conservative party conference here Thursday unanimously adopted a resolution urging a change in the trade union law to make the calling of a strike illegal without a secret ballot
of the members of the union affected.
The law would also be amended to provide protection of trade union members from intimidation or victimization because of their political beliefs.

DAILY LEAGUE ELECTS ALL FORMER OFFICERS

Janesville—(AP)—The Wisconsin
Daily League concluded a day's session
Wednesday afternoon with the re-election of the former officers. Frank R.
Starbuck, Racine Journal News, President Emory Odell, Monroe Times, Vice President E. H. Bliss, Secretary and treasurer. New policies and advancement of business were discussed and expansion of the work of the league determined upon.

WANT RAILROAD CASE IN APPELATE COURT

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—First steps to remove the Chicago, Milwaukee and St.
Paul railway bankruptcy case from the jurisdiction of the lower courts to that of the appellate body were taken Thursday by counsel for the Jameson committee of bond holders when a motion was filed with Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson, asking leave to appeal from his recent order denying a petition for intervention to the United States Circuit court of appeals.

QUEEN MAY BOB HAIR BUT HAS OWN IDEAS REGARDING COSTUMES

Paris—(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania, has bobbed hair, but she will not wear short skirts. Also she is sticking to her custom of showing originality in choosing her costumes for her trip to the United States.

The queen has been adamant to the entreaties of the high priests of fashion that she accept without alteration, their modes. Marie continues to inject her own ideas into most of the numerous costumes she is ordering.

Prince Nicholas, seems to have forgotten all about purchasing neckties, collars and other things.
He is absorbed in his passion for automobiles and spends most of his time in the motor car show rooms.

Queen Marie has had Mrs. Woodrow Wilson as a guest at a tea.
They met in Bucharest several weeks ago. Mrs. Wilson will be a passenger next Tuesday on the Leviathan, on which Queen Marie has an elaborate suite.

TO HOSPITAL

A carbuncle on the neck of Theodore Roosevelt has become so serious
as to necessitate an immediate operation and Roosevelt will leave Chicago for New York Thursday, after speaking at Elkhart, Ind., to enter a hospital.

EMPIRE STATE VOTE VITAL TO NATION IN '28

Al Smith's Election as Govern-nor Would Make Him
White House Aspirant

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1926, by Post-Pub. Co., New York.—The Empire state is already fighting its local political battle with an eye to the presidential campaign of 1928. Although Governor Al Smith is popular as a state executive, and his opponents concede his strength, they are beginning to talk to the voters of the "danger" of permitting him to win the gubernatorial election this year because it may mean his nomination in 1928. In other words, the cry is to beat Al Smith
this year so that he will be eliminated
as a contender in 1928.

The argument works both ways, of course. For the friends of Al Smith are working doubly hard believing that if he is elected for the fourth time he will have demonstrated conclusively that he can carry the state for the presidency—something no
Democrat has done since Grover Cleveland, with the exception of 1912
when there was a three-cornered race
and former President Roosevelt divided the Republican vote.

HAS VITAL BEARING

Thus it may be said that the New York state campaign will have a vital bearing on the next presidential election.

When a man holds the office of governor of any state for three terms
he accumulates some antagonisms.
Also, when his ambition to step from the governorship to the presidency is well established, there are voters who will be persuaded to consider whether they wish by their votes this year to elevate Al Smith to the White House. In many instances, the desire to promote Al Smith to the presidency is so thoroughly ingrained that it amounts almost to a fanaticism. On the other hand, there are some independent voters who believe Al Smith is all right as governor of New York state, but they do not consider him sufficiently "dignified" to sit in the White House.

Wall Street, which has hitherto been very favorable to Al Smith, having given him substantial support in previous campaigns, is reported to be turning its back on him.

REPORT SEVERE BATTLES FOUGHT BY CHINESE

Shanghai—(AP)—A Toho news agency report from Muking says a severe battle was fought for six hours last Tuesday between Sun Chuan Fang's forces and the Cantonese and that Sun came off victorious, recapturing
the city of Tahan. The southerners retreated to the hills south of Tahan.
Sun's forces were pressing on against the main southern army on the Nanchang front. The allied casualties in this area are reported to be 4,000 and the southern casualties 5-6,000.

UNMASKED ROBBERS LOOT BANK IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Leeds S. D.—(AP)—Three unmasked men entered the First National bank Thursday, locked L. Hansen, assistant cashier, in a vault in the basement
and escaped with about $7,000 in cash.
The robbery was discovered about an hour afterwards by Cashier L. I.
Walden who arrived to find Hansen
in the vault.

Sheriff M. A. Erickson expressed belief that the robbers also held up the New Rockford bank of $50,000 a week ago.

Byrd Plans 7,000-Mile Air Trip In United States

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The airplane in which Commander Richard E. Byrd flew to the north pole left here Thursday on a flight which will take it to all parts of the country on a tour in the interest of commercial aviation.

Washington—(AP)—With the first trans-Polar flight in history already in her log, the Byrd plane, "Miss Josephine Ford," was tuned up Thursday for the start of another record air journey, a 7,000-mile roughly circular tour of the United States in which about forty cities will be visited for the promotion of commercial aviation.
Expenses of the expenditure will be defrayed by the Daniel Guggenheim fund which is acting in cooperation with the department of commerce.

On the first leg of the journey—
Washington to New York—Lieut.
Commander Richard E. Byrd, who commanded the Trans-Polar flight, planned to be at the controls, but thereafter the plane will be piloted by Floyd Bennett, naval aviator who flew with Commander Byrd over the north pole. Bennett will be in charge after the plane leaves New York City.
Milwaukee will be visited, although no definite date has been set.

I. M. STAUFFACHER WILL SUCCEED ROSA

Appointment of Monroe Man Announced Thursday by Governor Blaine

MADISON—(AP)—Appointment of I. M.
Stauffacher, Monroe, to the Tax commission to fill the vacancy left by Charles D. Rosa, who resigned to run on the Independent ticket for United States senator was announced Thursday by Governor Blaine.

Mr. Stauffacher has been assessor of incomes for the past six years.
Much of his work concerned the assessment of real estate.

Charles D. Rosa handed his "unconditional" resignation as member of the Wisconsin Tax commission to Governor Blaine late Wednesday. Mr.
Rosa spent Wednesday in winding up his affairs in the Tax commission.
Headquarters for his campaign were opened here under the management of
H. W. Adams, Beloit attorney.

Mr. Rosa's resignation terminated a connection with the Tax commission
of more than six years.

ARMOUR GRAIN CO. WANTS HEARING PREVENTED

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The Armour Grain Co. Thursday asked the District of Columbia Supreme court to prevent the hearing ordered for Oct. 11, at Chicago on complaint that the company has been guilty of violating the grain future trading act.
The complaint against the company was issued by Secretary Jardine and alleged that screenings had been mixed with rye by the company, which had caused to be reported as part of the regular elevator stock in Chicago
a quantity of rye graded as deliverable on futures contracts which in effect was not of such a grade. The company was ordered to show cause why contract markets should not refuse it trading privileges.

NATIONAL GOLF CHAMP OUT OF TOURNAMENT

Philadelphia—(AP)—Edith Squier,
Reading Pa., who defeated Mrs. G.
Henry Watson, national golf champion Wednesday, was eliminated Thursday from the Berthelton cup tournament at the Huntingdon valley country club by Virginia Wilson, Chicago 3 and 2.

Glenna Collett, former national champion defeated Helen Meehan, Philadelphia 3 and 1.

Miss Wilson and Miss Collett will meet in the final match Friday.

MA AND PA STILLMAN BUY RING TOGETHER FOR "BUD'S" FIANCE

New York—(AP)—Alexander
"Bud" Stillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman and relative of some of the most prominent families in New York, is engaged to marry the daughter of a Canadian farmer and stockman, a girl that was once his mother's servant.

Bud is a senior at Princeton university. He says that his wedding to Lena Wilson of Grand Anse, Quebec, will take place as soon as possible after he is graduated next June. Bud's fiancée engaged last month, just before he returned to college. Miss Wilson is 18 and a blond. Bud is just at the voting age. The match has the approval of his family.

Bud met his fiancée seven years ago while she was helping on his mother's great estate at Grand Anse. It was at Grand Anse that
Mrs. Stillman met Fred Beauvais, Indian guide who was co-respondent in Mr. Stillman's divorce suit.

Bud's reconciled father and mother shopped together for Miss Wilson's engagement ring, which is set with diamonds and emeralds.

MILLER DIDN'T COMMIT CRIME, LAWYER SAYS

"Champagne Dinner Was Nothing," Attorney Tells Jury in Allen Case

New York—(AP)—Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, committed no crime when he handed Richard Merton, German metal magnate, two checks for $5,543,000 at a champagne dinner in the Ritz-Carlton, William Rand, his counsel, told the jury in the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial Thursday.

Rand was making his summation
for Miller. Wednesday he analyzed the law and part of the evidence in the case. Max D. Steuer, counsel for Herbert Daugherty, will make his summation later. Daugherty and Miller are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the release of $7,000,000 of impounded metal assets in 1921.

"DINNER WAS NOTHING"
"This champagne dinner was nothing," Rand said. "Mr. Miller was coming to New York anyway. He just brought those checks along to save time."

"Well, if there had been a crime committed in paying these checks, it was committed on Sept. 23, when the checks were passed. This dinner was on the thirtieth. Now what does that mean? Don't let the government fool you in this. It means nothing at all.
This is just another example of the persecution mania I've already described to you."

"The government makes much of the fact that the dinner was held in a private room. Well, where would it be held? On the street?"

WISCONSIN LABOR ASKS MINE DISASTER INQUIRY

Detroit—(AP)—Representatives of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor and the Milwaukee Federated Trades council began a series of conferences here Wednesday with officers of the Michigan State Federation looking toward a possible joint action in promoting inquiry into the disaster after
"Federal Inquiry" into the recent Ironwood, Mich., entombment in which 43 miners were trapped.

Representatives of the Wisconsin Federation, and Frank J.
Weber, convention spokesman for the Milwaukee Trades council, came to Detroit with the demand of the Ashland Central Labor union for an inquiry into the accident. They conferred Thursday with Frank Wade, President of the Michigan Federation.
The course agreed upon may be executed either through national convention or through executive council after adjournment.

WRESTLING CLAIMANT DEFEATS "TIGER MAN"

Los Angeles—(AP)—Joe Stecher, claimant of the world's heavyweight
wrestling title, defeated Joe Pesek
"Nebraska Tiger man" here Wednesday night after each had gained a fall. Stecher was awarded the match when Pesek threw him the third time with a triangle hold which the rules prohibit.

KANSAS ELEVEN LEAVES FOR MADISON GRID GAME

Lawrence, Kans.—(AP)—The departure of the Kansas varsity for Madison Thursday left the Jayhawkers with but one day of practice to be taken on the Big Ten team's field Friday before meeting Wisconsin. The game holds much interest in Valley football circles because of the fact that both Coach Little of the Badgers
and Coach Cappon are Yost pupils.

DETROIT CHURCHES DON'T REFLECT ATTITUDE IN U. S.

Detroit—(AP)—Following a plea by President William Green, that the matter of withdrawal of invitations to labor speakers by Detroit churches
"be considered closed" the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor proceeded with the regular order of business Thursday morning.

After two addresses from the floor
deploring the action of the Detroit churchmen in withdrawing invitations to labor leaders was a special order of business in the American Federation of Labor convention.

Failure of overnight attempts to calm the rising tempest of resentment left the matter unsettled. Green recommended ending the discussion without a formal expression of the convention.

Detroit—(AP)—Consideration of a recommendation to answer in a "very emphatic fashion" the action of Detroit churchmen in withdrawing speaking invitations to labor leaders was a special order of business in the American Federation of Labor convention.

Pittsburg Faces "Blue" Sunday Under 1794 Law

Pittsburg—(AP)—Pennsylvania's
second largest city Thursday faced the prospect of a "sport-less" Sunday, with an additional ban on Sunday sales of tobacco and confections a strong possibility.

Invoking the blue laws of 1794, ignored for more than a century by police officials, James M. Clark, Pittsburg's director of public safety, Wednesday prohibited the playing of any Sunday sports,
and then declared he would strictly enforce every phase of the blue laws which ban all Sunday activity but that "necessary for life."

Under the director's order, all Pittsburg golf courses and tennis courts will be closed Sunday unless legal efforts forestall Clark's move.

If Clark proceeds to enforce literally all phases of the "blue laws" all stores in the city will have to close except drug stores, which, however, will be allowed to sell only medicinal and sick room supplies.

Questioned concerning the ban,
Clark said that if "proved obnoxious to the people it is their privilege to go to the legislature and get the measure repealed," adding, however, that all such attempts in the past had failed.

LAFOLLETTE TO AID MAKING MINE PROBE

Senator Declares Fight on Numerous Accidents "Well Worth Making"

MADISON—(AP)—Senator Robert M.
La Follette will look into the question of a federal inquiry into the recent Ironwood disaster immediately upon his return to Washington next month and he has already received some information from Washington by wire concerning the steps to be taken he announced Thursday.

The announcement followed a conference here with John B. Chapple, managing editor of the Ashland Daily Press, which demanded a thorough inquiry into the disaster after Mr.
Chapple had made a personal investigation at the scene of the cave-in which killed three and entombed 43
other Iron miners over five days. Senator La Follette commented on the numbers of mine disasters in the last 18 months and stated the fight was
"well worth making."

MARION TALLEY DRAWS RECORD CROWD IN IOWA

Des Moines—(AP)—Marion Talley,
plump young prima donna of Kansas City, attracted the greatest throng that ever heard an opera star here in her recent visit. The audience of 5,000 persons paid $9,000 to hear the new star of the operatic firmament.

Another youthful feminine attraction of the day was Gertrude Ederle, English channel swimmer, who gave two exhibitions. The two young women met coincidentally in their engagements here and each expressed admiration at the accomplishments of the other.

WIFE OF THEFT RING LEADER UNDER ARREST

Elkhorn—(AP)—Mrs. Harry Sutton, wife of the head of the Sutton Sales company, headquarters of an alleged auto theft "fence," was arrested late Wednesday in Chicago, and brought to Elkhorn. She was accused of being a partner in which she fled from her home in Delavan as also recovered.

Mrs. Irving Avara wife of one of the four men seized by officials Tuesday night and Wednesday morning,
also was arrested in Chicago and returned here.

THE POINT TO THIS STORY IS THIS—$!

The Post-Crescent ads tell a new automobile story every day.

Pitz & Treiber, Jewelers, 224
W. College avenue, had an Overland Sedan, Baby Grand Model, they desired to convert into cash. And the second day their ad appeared in the "Automobiles for Sale" column
a buyer came along—leaving $155.

IF YOU have an automobile
to sell, put an ad in The Post-Crescent and then hurry out and take a last look at your

Opportune Hitting Pulls Fifth Game Out of Fire for New York

PENNOCK BESTS SHERDEL
Both Hurlers Pitch Wonderful
Baseball for Nine Innings

Sportsmans Park, St.
Louis. (AP)—Rallying at the close of a hard fought pitchers battle between Sherdel and Pennock, the Yankees defeated the Cardinals 3 to 2, in ten innings
in the fifth worlds series game here today. The American leaguers tied the score
in the ninth and put over the winning run in the tenth.

FIRST INNING
Yankees—Combs up. Strike one called, ball one low inside. Combs sent out a fly to Hafey. Koenig up.
Thevenow threw out Koenig at first,
Koenig hitting the first ball. Run up. He got a big hand. Ball one outside, strike one called, this was a slow curve inside, ball two high inside, Hornsby threw out Ruth at first, Babe going after a slow ball.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals—Holm up. Holm went out, Koenig to Gehrig hitting the first out. Southworth up. Koenig juggled Southworth's grounder and the batter was safe. It was an error.
Hornsby up. Time was called, until Southworth could tie his shoe. Ball
one low, Southworth "stole" second, Strike one swung. Seaverid dropped the ball and it went for a passed ball.
Pennock threw out Hornsby at first,
Southworth going to third, Bottomley
up, strike one swung, ball one wide and low, strike two swung, ball two high, ball three outside. (Pennock kicked on this one, Lazzari tossed out Bottomley at first. No runs, no hits, shot and threw him out. Gehrig up.

Ball one low, ball two wide, ball three low, strike one called, strike two called, Gehrig singled over the middle bag with the count 3 and 2. Lazzari up. Foul strike one, ball one inside, Lazzari singled to right. Gehrig going to third. Dugan up. Ball one inside, ball two outside and low, Dugan hit into a double play. Hornsby taking grounders touching Lazzari and getting Dugan with a quick throw to Bottomley. No runs, two hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING
Yankees—Seaverid up. Seaverid sent out a fly to Holm who made his first world's series catch. Pennock up. The spectators applauded the New York pitcher. Ball one inside, strike one called, strike two called,
ball two outside, foul, ball three outside, Sherdel cut off a seeming hit by Pennock. Sherdel caught the ball in his gloved hand. Combs up. Ball one low, ball two low, strike one called, strike two called, ball three high, O'Farrell took Combs' rolling throw him out. Seaverid taking a wide

Hafey and Ruth had to race back to turn on page 19 col 4.

GOOD BUSINESS AHEAD BOARD'S SURVEY SHOWS

Madison—(AP)—Favorable business conditions in the upper midwest during the remainder of 1926 were forecast here Thursday in the reports of 46 commodity committees to the eleventh regular session of the Mid-West Shipping advisory board.

The detailed survey embraced business probabilities in Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin, and parts of Indiana and Michigan, the territory served by the advisory body.

Seasonal declines were foreseen in some industries during the next three months but for the majority of commodities represented the consensus
was for business considerably better than during the same period last year.

GIVE AUTHORITY FOR ANOTHER BLIMP FLIGHT

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Authority for the first extensive overland flight of the airship Los Angeles since the Shenandoah disaster has been granted by the navy department. The ship will start on a flight to Detroit on a date to be selected by her commander,
Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, some time after Oct. 11.

DANGER OF FLOOD PAST IN ILLINOIS CITY, HOPE

Beardstown, Ill.—(AP)—Collapsing levees along the Illinois river and its tributaries at 9 o'clock Thursday morning gave Beardstown hope that the peak of the flood had been passed.
At that hour the river gauge had receded to 25.43 feet from the top mark of 25.8.

U. S. EXTENDS CREDIT TO COTTON MARKETERS

Washington—(AP)—The government has extended a $30,000,000 credit to cooperative marketing associations for the orderly marketing of the cotton crop.

ERECT SIGN POSTS ABOUT COUNTY TO DIRECT MOTORISTS

Merchants Are Ready for Crowd Expected During
"Motor to Appleton Week"

Sign posts directing motorists to Appleton, bearing the words "Motor to Appleton" or "Stop in Appleton," are being erected in Outagamie and adjacent counties this week by the special "Motor to Appleton" committee of the chamber of commerce.

The signs consist of large wooden boards mounted on posts and pointing in the direction of Appleton. The words are painted on the boards. The distance of the city from each particular spot also is indicated.

Although the signs are being placed along rural highways in conjunction with "Motor to Appleton" week, which starts next Monday, Oct. 11, they will be permanent fixtures.

Next week probably will be one of the busiest periods ever experienced by local merchants at this time of year. It is expected by the committee in charge that hundreds of persons who primarily do not trade here are expected to be attracted to Appleton by the special bargains to be offered by the majority of business establishments, and many new customers will be secured by the stores. The trade is the real purpose of the week. Merchants feel that if people, now trading in other cities are given the opportunity of trading here only once, they will continue to do much of their business in Appleton, thus increasing the present radius of the city's trading area. If the plans prove successful, hundreds of more dollars will be directed toward Appleton. It is pointed out.

In order to carry the message of the bargains to be secured here next week, arrangements have been made to get copies of the Post-Crescent carrying the merchants' special advertisements into more than 20,000 homes in this and surrounding counties on three different occasions. This will give merchants a coverage of approximately 7,000 more families than is ordinarily reached by this newspaper.

The extra copies will be delivered on Saturday, Tuesday and Thursday, Oct. 9, 12 and 14, on which occasions a "double truck" advertisement will be carried by local merchants. The "double truck" consists of two additional full pages of advertising, the pages being equally divided to be carried on the two days.

Professional men as well as business men are cooperating in "Motor to Appleton" week, which is expected to be one of the largest undertakings ever attempted by merchants here.

PLUMMER, PRIEBE OFF TO CONVENTION

Pershing May Nominate General Pershing for Legion Commander

H. E. "Pep" Plummer, national executive-committee member of the American Legion for Wisconsin, will leave Thursday evening for Philadelphia to attend the national convention of the Legion which will take place from Oct. 11 to 15.

Mr. Plummer, a past president of the state Legion auxiliary will be "seconded" for national auxiliary president. The boom was started at the Wisconsin Legion convention and she has been assured the support of all middle west states. Wisconsin delegates have been instructed to nominate her. She had decided to run for vice president, backing Kentucky woman for president but the Kentucky woman withdrew from the race. Mrs. MacAuley is present state and national poppy chairman of the auxiliary.

Meeting Postponed
The meeting of the superintendents and secretaries of the Congregational church school, which was to have been held at 7:30 Tuesday evening at the home of Lacey Horton, was postponed. No date was set for holding the postponed meeting.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Partly cloudy tonight and Friday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The only rains during the past 24 hours have been over the northern part of the state, resulting from the low pressure, and over the middle part of the state. In the extreme southwest, heavy rains were reported over Appleton. There are no reports of rain elsewhere.

CONTRACTORS MAKING PROGRESS ON BRIDGE

Good progress is being made with the construction of the bridge at the foot of the Elkhart Chute hill on Highway 12, which will eliminate the bad curve at that point. While the work has been delayed considerably by the heavy rains which carried out the concrete dam surrounding the work, the abutments were finally completed and the work is now advancing rapidly. Forms for the floor of the bridge have been built and it is expected that concrete will be poured before the end of the week.

CLOSE GATES IN MENASHA DAM TO PROTECT LOWLAND

Congressman Schneider Gets
Help for Fox River Riparians

The flooded condition of property near Strobb's island and other low sections between Neenah and Appleton was alleviated Wednesday night as a result of a communication between George L. Schneider, congressman, and Major John L. Kingman, district engineer in Milwaukee, who ordered the closing of sluice gates at Neenah and Menasha and the opening of gates at Appleton. The water level fell from 18 to 14 inches by Thursday morning, Mr. Schneider said.

Eight of the 14 sluice gates at Neenah and two of the four Menasha gates were opened Sunday to take care of the increased water level in Lake Winnebago caused by the rains of the past days and augmented by the closing of the mills on Sunday.

The rush of water above Neenah immediately brought a raise in the water level near Strobb's island of about 30 inches, it was said, and the banks were overtopped. Crops were destroyed on farms between Appleton and Neenah.

A protest was made by the farmers to Mr. Schneider who was asked to help them in seeking relief. He communicated with the district engineer, and four of the sluice gates at Neenah and one at Menasha were ordered closed. Two additional gates were opened at the Appleton dam. This securing immediate relief, the congressman stated.

DR. ADSIT HEADS DENTAL STUDY CLUB

Dentists Consider Affiliation
With County Medical Society

Dr. A. E. Adsit was elected president of the Appleton Dental Study club for the ensuing year at the meeting Wednesday night at the Conway hotel. A dinner was served at 6:15 preceding the business session. Fifteen dentists were present. Dr. W. E. O'Keefe was elected vice president and Dr. C. Perschbacher was elected secretary and treasurer. It was decided to keep the dental offices closed on Saturday afternoon as usual.

Dr. W. H. Meeker suggested that the schools in Appleton be visited and teeth of the school children be examined. The clinic will be held on the morning of Oct. 19.

A discussion was held on the possibility of the Appleton Dental club becoming a member of the Outagamie County Dental society. The discussion will be continued at the next meeting which probably will be held in two weeks.

Word has been received at the Appleton police department of a car stolen at Waukegan on Oct. 5. The car is a Ford touring, with four balloon tires and the glass missing from the rear curtain. A reward is offered for recovery of the car, according to William Toepke, sheriff. The license number is B25-574.

ELKS STUDY PLANS FOR PLAYGROUNDS

Tentative Preparations Are Made to Equip Recreation Spot for Children

Preliminary plans for buying and equipping a public playground were reported by the social community welfare committee of the Elk club at the monthly dinner and meeting of the officers and committee men at the clubhouse Wednesday evening. F. H. Wheeler was appointed chairman of the committee last spring when a tentative plan was formed.

Appleton is one of the few cities of its size in the middle west, Mr. Wheeler said, without adequate playground facilities for the children. It is hoped to start this work in the spring or summer, but no definite arrangements have been made. Mr. Wheeler suggested that playgrounds were of advertising value to a city as tourists who travelled with children found the city that was equipped with playgrounds more attractive than the one that offered no such amusement for the youngsters.

MORE FRIVOLITY
BECAUSE WORLD IS LIVING EASIER

Less Sense of Responsibility, Rosenberry Tells Social Workers

Milwaukee (AP)—Lessening of the struggle for existence in modern civilization has brought about "frivolity and a lessening of the sense of responsibility for the general welfare," Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry, of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, said here Sunday. Religion he said, was one way of combating the tendency.

Justice Rosenberry delivered the president's address at the opening meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Workers.

There has been a change in the motivation of society within recent years he said.

"I can not help but feel," Justice Rosenberry declared, "that in this great period of transition which has brought to the people of this country immeasurable benefits, we are in the way of losing sight of some of the great fundamental values which cannot be sacrificed without permanent and irreparable loss. I ascribe this danger to a shift in the motivation of society. Human hopes and desires cluster around certain fundamental things: first, self preservation, which is said to be the first law of nature and the satisfaction of which has led to the material advance made by this or any other people; second, the establishment of a home, the begetting and rearing of children, their education and establishment in life and all that appertains to it. Third, the hope of immortality. While cynics may sneer and sneer, it nevertheless remains true that the desire of man to so live and conduct himself that he may enjoy a happier life hereafter has been one of the great motivating factors in the life of our race; and fourth, the desire of every normal man to have the satisfaction which comes from a full and complete exercise of his natural capacities in the accomplishment of some desirable end."

"Under the old order the struggle for a barely decent subsistence was so intense and so absorbing that it furnished the dominant motive of society. Our habits, traditions and law were formed to govern a society so motivated."

"One might pursue the subject into any number of fields and an examination would disclose that in the main the things that dominate the social order a hundred years ago or even fifty years ago and in the main motivated it, have undergone a definite and radical change. We can never hope to go back to the old order."

"Many a snapper, who is out to have a good time as she calls it and who regards moral principles as old-fashioned and out worn, will, when she is charged with the responsibilities of motherhood have such a vivid realization of the penalties exacted by nature and society for the breach of moral and even social conventions."

Peterson's Ointment rid me of piles so quickly that I was astonished. I felt somewhat pained, however, to think that I had suffered so many years before knowing what a wonderful remedy Peterson's Ointment is. Let me thank you from the bottom of my heart," John O'Leary.

COUNTY GETS ROAD
CHECK FROM STATE

A check from the state highway department representing state aid in the amount of $3,470 was credited to the highway department through the office of County Treasurer Marie Ziegenhagen during September. This was the only large sum to be received as state highway aid during the month, Miss Ziegenhagen said.

that they will be re-established in her mind and family upon a fresh basis. She will find that the fire is not and that it still burns and the very vividness of her experience will cause it to be transmitted to those about her. If this is true and as a miss we are retesting these principles, we will shortly find that those conventions which are valid and real will be re-sorted to their former vigor and those that are not worthwhile and are invalid will be destroyed.

"I may diverge enough to say that personally I feel that remediation could best be found in religious teaching and practice but even religion seems to be with a large element out of fashion and therefore out of mind. As every individual in some great crisis of his life turns back upon the fundamental things and seeks the help of an unseen power, so in some great crisis the race will again fix its eye upon the cross at Calvary and upon the life and teachings of the Master of Men."

"We are charged with a great responsibility. Science and invention have placed within our hands tremendous possibilities but these cannot be attained by disregarding the fundamental values of life and to re-motivate society so that it will seek permanent and indestructible values rather than ephemeral and evanescent substitutes in a great problem. The solution of this problem lies with every one of us. The resultant of the motives of individuals becomes the motive of society."

RURAL DISTRICTS ARE NOW STUDYING
FIRE PREVENTION

Annual Loss in Urban Communities Through Carelessness Enormous

While Fire Prevention week was originally observed only in cities, the serious losses to farm property in recent years have made the observation universal throughout rural districts as well as in urban centers. The annual fire loss on farms would pay the interest on the loans of American farmers and provide $50,000,000 to decrease the principal, according to the chairman of the Agricultural committee of the National Fire Protection Association which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. In addition to the large property loss, hundreds of lives are lost every year due to fire on farms.

Several factors contribute to the heavy farm losses. Among these are poor construction, the lack of fire protection because of isolation, hazards of acetylene lights, electricity, gasoline, milking machinery and storage of combustible products such as hay, straw, grain, etc.

The principal causes of farm fires are lightning, defective chimneys, sparks on roofs, matches and smoking, spontaneous combustion, petroleum products and heating apparatus. Ninety per cent of all fires in farm property occur from preventable causes. Even lightning fires could be practically eliminated through proper installation of approved lightning rods.

Farmers are urged to make a special attempt to ascertain more about the fire hazards of their property during Fire Prevention week. A thorough inspection should bring to light a number of hazards which, left to themselves, might cause serious trouble at some subsequent time. Special attention should be given to fire protection. The installation of water pails and chemical extinguishers in farm houses and barns may be the means of saving much valuable property in the event of fire.

ALDERMEN DECIDE TO EXTEND THREE STREETS 2 BLOCKS

Maple, Grove and Chestnut-sts Will Extend to Division-st

Neenah—Land was ordered condemned by the city council Wednesday night to extend from Cecil to Division-sts. Maple-st is to be 60 feet in width while the other two are to be of 50 feet width. The name of Klondike-st was changed to Grove-st
on petition from property owners.

The committee on streets, highways and bridges brought up the matter of filling up a three-foot deep ditch on S.
Park-ave which receives all the water pumped from the city stone quarry a block away. The ditch often is filled with water which seeps through into the cellars in the vicinity. It was decided to place a pipe from the quarry and to cover it in such a manner as to level up the street which is now in a dangerous condition. The committee reported the steam roller batter used. It was recommended that prices on a whole boiler be received. The boiler used in thawing out sewers and waterpipes was reported as topheavy and unsafe. It will be exchanged for one not so high.
The engineer was instructed to establish a building line for garages on Cherry-st.

WANT PICTURES
Former-mayors who have not furnished the city with enlarged portraits of themselves to hang in the council chamber, will be asked to do so. The cost of enlargement is to be borne by the city.

The committee on water works reported that a total of $150 had been collected during the summer from tourists using the camp site and suggested this money go toward the purchase of a power mower to be used at the camp site and waterworks grounds. Two lots on Division-st were authorized purchased upon which to place a new standpipe at some future time. The cost of the two lots was $250.

Recommendations of the Rev. A. J. Sommers as a member of the board of Education, and L. C. Oborn as sealer of weights and measures, were presented to the council and accepted.
Civil service examinations will be conducted by H. J. Zemlock, city clerk for the position of sealer who will be conducted at the state Dairy and Food meeting to be held Nov. 11 in Madison.

The condition of Columbia park,
was brought up by Ald. Marty who asked that proper drainage and leveling of the done so it will be fit to be used. This project was left with the committee on streets, highways and bridges.

A small automobile for use of the police department may replace the motorcycle now in use and which is in bad condition.
A resolution was adopted authorizing the council to petition the Wisconsin Railroad commission to authorize the Soo line to separate the grade on Winchester-ave.

The old steam engine, the first one in the city of Neenah, has become a nuisance, it was reported. It was suggested to scrap it or sell it to some small town. Mayor Denhardt refused to allow action upon it as he wished that the city could preserve it as a relic.

The need of a building inspector was brought out when aldermen reported that houses were being erected in Neenah which are of no credit to any community. This matter will be brought up at a future meeting for discussion. Residents on Hewitt-st from Commercial-st to Ninth-st, are willing to improve that street providing the council will designate what material will be best. The council was unanimous in selecting cement.
Buildings on the city property upon which the new school is to be erected were sold to L. B. Rasmussen for $205. Mr. Rasmussen was the highest bidder. Bids amounting to $24, 644.42 were ordered paid. Inadequate sewer facilities on High-st, as reported by the state inspector, will be remedied in the near future, according to a report. Monthly reports of the two justices, poor commissioner and police were presented and accepted.

HIGH OFFICERS INSTALL
OFFICERS OF E. F. U.

Neenah—J. Earl Brown of Lansing Mich., deputy supreme president of Equitable Fraternal union, was installing officer Wednesday evening at a meeting of Neenah Assembly No. 1
at which the newly elected officers were seated. Short talks were given by Mr. Brown, Judge J. C. Karel of Milwaukee, supreme president; Dio Dunham, president of the Neenah assembly and A. B. Poss, deputy supreme advisor. Dancing and supper completed the evening's program.
Delegations of 40 people from Oshkosh and 25 from Stevens Point were present. The new officers installed were Dio Dunham, president; B. A. Benson, vice president; Charles Martins, past president; W. G. Brown, advisor;
O. B. Baldwin, secretary; A. J. Alt-haus, treasurer; John Williams, trustee for three years; Niel Larson, warden; Edward Fueschel, inner guard,
and Cornelius Quinn, outer guard.

FINED FOR SHOOTING
DUCKS BEFORE SUNRISE

Neenah—Henry Speel and August Scheldermayer of town of Wolf River, paid fines of $50 and costs each Thursday morning to Justice O. B.
Baldwin for shooting game birds before sunrise. The men were arrested Wednesday morning by A. Dunham, game warden, while in the act of shooting ducks on the marsh near Poygan.

TINZO JEL. Delicate, dainty and delicious.

STUDENTS PREPARE FOR HOMECOMING

Neenah—A booster meeting of students was held Thursday afternoon at high school for purpose of creating enthusiasm for the homecoming game
to be played Saturday afternoon with Kaukauna at Columbia park. Short talks were given, yells were rehearsed and arrangements were made to make the first homecoming celebration a success. There will be no sessions in the schools on Friday as teachers will attend the Oshkosh convention. The homecoming celebration will start Friday night with a parade of students which will be followed by a bonfire at Columbia park.

and Walter Scherok of Appleton were complainants in the action.

BUS COMPANY PROMISES TO PAY LICENSE FEE

Neenah—Up to noon Thursday representatives of the American Coach Lines had not appeared to pay the license fee to the city for operating buses through Neenah. A phone message from the Milwaukee office of the company, to George Kelly, city attorney, stated that the money would be paid under protest sometime during the day. This promise has been made several times and not carried out. The company also promised to pay the fine of Carl Snyder who was arrested as he drove one of the company's buses through Neenah with-

FIGHT FIRE FOR 3 HOURS AT WOODENWARE PLANT

Menasha—The contents of the waste coop of the barrel and keg department of the Menasha Wooden-Ware company caught fire in some unknown way at 5 o'clock Thursday morning and required more than three hours of the combined efforts of the company's fire department and the municipal fire department to extinguish it. The blaze was hard to fight for the reason that most of the waste
had to be removed to get at it.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—Mrs. Walter E. Held and Mrs. Chester Held entertained 30 friends at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening at the home of the former on Chute-st for Miss Elsie Held who is to become the bride of Theodore Lisk of Neenah the latter part of the month. The honors were won by Miss Blanche Calder, Miss Madeline Heckrodt, and Mrs. Charles Maynor.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Winodaus club was held Thursday afternoon at the Masonic hall. Cards was played.

The American Legion auxiliary will install its new officers Thursday evening at its meeting at S. A. Cook armory.

The card party given Wednesday afternoon and evening by the ladies of St. Mary church was well attended, 15 tables being engaged in the afternoon and 39 in the evening. Schalkkopf, whist, bidge, rummy and skat were played. Mrs. John Orth was chairman of the committee in charge. From now until the annual bazaar the latter part of the month, the ladies have decided to give weekly card parties each Wed-

TWIN CITY
DEATHS

FENSK FUNKAL
Menasha—The funeral of Mrs. Gus
Fenske, which was held at 2 o'clock
Tuesday afternoon at her home on Racine-st, was the first in recent years conducted by the Golden Rod Review of the Women's Benefit association. The clergyman in charge was the Rev. John Best, pastor of the Congregational church. The ritual service was carried by the members, more than 50 of whom were present. All were in uniform which consisted of a white dress with black tie with a red flower on their left shoulder. Each member carried a spear.

SAYS HAWAII IS CENTER OF GOODWILL IN PACIFIC

Honolulu—(P)—Hawaii is the seat of a great movement destined to create a new era of international friendship and goodwill in Pacific.
In the opinion of Kazuo Kuwahima, new Japanese consul-general here.
"The people of the Pacific," said Consul Kuwahima at a luncheon given in his honor, "must be given a knowledge of the character, the life,
and the surroundings of other peoples in other lands. There must be respect, not prejudice; fellowship, and not enmity."

"International friendship cannot be obtained without international knowledge, and international knowledge largely depends upon international education and cooperation."

DOUBT LEGALITY OF ELECTION ON BEACH PURCHASE

Council Decides to Hold Matter in Abeyance Until Another Meeting

Menasha—The entire session of the adjourned meeting of the common council Wednesday evening was occupied with a discussion of the proposed purchase of Brighton beach as a municipal bathing place and park. City Attorney Henry Fitzgibbon gave an oral opinion as to whether a referendum
could be held at the general election and quoted authorities to substantiate his position. He invited questions on the part of the aldermen
and was kept busy answering them.
After taking a lengthy recess in a committee room at the suggestion of Mayor N. G. Remmel, during which they threshed out the proposition privately, the aldermen decided to put the matter over until a future conference to be called by the president of the council.

OPINIONS DIVIDED
City Attorney Fitzgibbon said authorities were divided as to whether the referendum could be held at a general election and after young oversight thoroughly advised the council
not to hold it at that time. He said there was no question about it on any municipal election and advised the aldermen to wait until the spring election. "Your opinion is then," said Mayor Remmel addressing the city attorney,
"that there is no specified law that covers an instance of this kind?" "Authorities say it is an unsettled question at this time," replied the city attorney.

Alderman Finch, who proposed the purchase of the property by the city at the meeting the previous night, insisted that the purchase could be made in the event it was not a cash deal.
The city attorney informed him it could not be purchased on the installment plan; that the law required the city clerk to certify that the money to pay for it was in the city treasury
before he could sign a contract.

Mayor Remmel suggested that before the question is taken up at a later date that the aldermen consult their constituents in the various wards and find out how they stand with regard to the proposed purchase.

LOYD GEORGE PORTRAIT
REMAINS IN CLUB ROOM

London—(P)—David Lloyd George's full-length portrait was not removed from the walls of the National Liberal club in London, as was reported in the British press.

Years ago the pictures of Winston Churchill and Lloyd George rested for a long time in the basement of the former club building, and this fact is supposed to have given rise to the report that the latter's portrait
had again gone to the cellar.

PLAYS WITH TWO MILLION VOLTS

Dr. Harris J. Ryan, electrical expert of Leland Stanford University, and Edison prize winner, has set up an experimental station near Palo Alto, Calif., where he soon will send 2,000,000 volts of electricity spitting through the air—the greatest electrical strength ever generated and controlled by man. He predicts a tremendous development of power generating stations and lines on the west coast in the next decade.

FRENCH ACTRESS,
HEALTH BROKEN, IS FORGOTTEN

Madame Lavalliere, Once
World Famous, Spending
Last Days in Small Village

Thuilheres, France—(P)—A pointed church tower dominating the sloping roofs of forty-odd houses, a hillside cemetery with decaying tombstones—such is the panorama of Thuilheres, little village lost in a remote corner of the Vosges mountains.

But in a peaceful country landscape encloses its mystery, something more, than local tradition and rural ghosts. All that is left of Eve Laval-liere, toast of Paris before the war,
linked with Rogane and Sarah Bernhardt as one of the three most accomplished actresses, lies in a house on the outskirts of Thuilheres.

Lavalliere, for whom an admirer decorated a luncheon table with $2,000 worth of rare lavender orchids, Laval-liere the exquisite, lies here with her son, broken in health and mind, almost forgotten by the world which she was supposed to have deserted
for a Carmelite convent in 1917.
"It was a dream that called me," Laval-liere from the stage to "take up her cross" and hold the poor and suffering. She described that dream:
"I thought of all the reckless extravagances of which I had been guilty of which I had been the object of a cloistral home in the Vosges, is a statuette of the Virgin, hands filled with flowers. Madame Lavalliere receives no one but it is not impossible

to enter the house; even the bedroom.
On the walls are religious images,
statues of the Virgin, plus engravings. In a corner, last vestige of the past, is a photograph of the actress
in evening gown, arms and breast bare.

A woman attendant, who said she was Madame Lavalliere's adviser and nurse, was asked about the actress' health.

"Not very good. She has a perforated kidney and suffers greatly. But how courageous she is! never complaining, and resisting her most appalling pains to the mercy of God."

"And she never talks of her past, of the theatre."

"Never. She wants to forget it all.
She won't even have any newspapers
in the house."

"Didn't she enter a Carmelite convent for a while and have to leave because the regime was too severe for her?"

"That's a story that should be stopped, and denied once and for all! Never did Madame Lavalliere enter such a convent as a nun. She was only affiliated with a Carmelite convent, remaining always in the Third Order, the members of which actually joined the Order, but lived in its headquarters."

ASSESSORS USE AIRPLANES
In Connecticut tax assessors are using with good effect, photographs of interior lands, to help in their assessments. In one county the tax list recorded 1,551 barns, garages and sheds but when the air photographers
had finished their task it was found there were 2,902 such buildings in that area with the result that the tax list increased in value in percentage increased in value more than $10, 000,000.

—Then, from above, I heard a deep sweet, rich voice saying: "Help these people! Don't add to the sins of the world and increase the sufferings of the poor. Don't be a wilful parasite of society. Take up your cross!"

The dream grew stronger and more impartunate with time, until phantom figures of the poor crowded in the stage while she was playing and drove her lines from her head.

COUNCIL VOTES TO CHANGE ZONE LAW FOR PAINT FIRM

ACTS CONTRARY TO SUGGESTIONS OF PLAN COMMISSION

Decides to Permit Local Company to Move to Light Manufacturing District

Acting in direct opposition to the recommendation of the zoning commission, the common council Wednesday night instructed Alfred C. Bossert, city attorney, to prepare an ordinance amending the one now in existence restricting the manufacture of paints to the heavy manufacturing district.

The amendment, if adopted by the council, will permit the location of such industries in the commercial and light manufacturing district.

The council's action followed the application of the General Paint Co. for permission to remove its place of business to a location in the commercial and light manufacturing district. As the company retails its products, neither its present location nor in any other in the heavy manufacturing district would help its business, it was contended by the firm.

UNFAVORABLE REPORT

The application was referred to the zoning commission, and an unfavorable report was returned by that body to the council. Its report urged compliance with the zoning ordinance as is now exists, made at the suggestion of Leonard Smith, city planner and author of the city's zoning ordinances. Smith pointed out that increased fire hazards and disreputable odors are associated with the paint industry and that because of these objections the industry should not be permitted outside the heavy manufacturing district.

The General Paint Co. pointed out that it engages its industry to mixing paints and that consequently no odors were noticeable from its establishment. It also maintained that fire hazards would be no more greater in its establishment than in any industry now permitted in the light manufacturing district.

The council acted contrary to the zoning commission's recommendation in accordance with its policy of encouraging expansion of local industries and securing new ones. The payroll of the General Paint Co. will be doubled within a few years if it is given an opportunity to expand, thus serving a part in increasing the industrial activity of the city, it was pointed out.

LOCAL MEN BLAMED FOR PARKING JAM

Prim Tells Kiwanians Business Men Clutter Parking Places With Cars

Three bills sponsored by the Wisconsin Police association at the last meeting of the legislature were discussed by George T. Prim, chief of police, at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club Wednesday noon at the Conway hotel. Two of these never went beyond the committee and the third which was passed by both houses of the legislature was vetoed by the governor, the chief said.

The bill vetoed by the governor provided that all drivers of automobiles be required to have a license. The others provided that all drivers carry compulsory liability insurance and that the legal speed on all highways outside of incorporated villages, towns and cities be increased to 40 miles an hour, the speaker explained.

Mr. Prim also discussed traffic and parking conditions in Appleton and blamed business and professional men for the congestion on the main streets during the day. It probably will be necessary to pass a city ordinance limiting parking time unless the condition is alleviated, he said, and if such an ordinance is passed the responsibility for it will rest on the men who have stores and offices on the busy streets.

FAMOUS WRITERS DISLIKE MOVIES

Dramatists Fear That Industry Is a Foreign Field for Profession

New York—(P)—The moving picture industry can get more "big names" for fiction and play writing to do stories for the screen if the fear of most dramatists that the films are a foreign field can be broken down.

Such is the opinion of Owen Davis, eminent playwright and chairman of the Authors League of America, who wrote the play "Forever After," and recently aided in its screen production by the First National company.

"The movies seem to be a lark to many well known writers today, whose works would be a great contribution to the screen," he said.

"They feel that the cinema is an absolutely different medium of expression than the stage. It isn't. The two are progressing together. There is a close association that I personally feel there is little difference in their drama."

"A good yarn," Mr. Davis said, "will be a good yarn whether it is told between the covers of a book, on the boards of the stage or the silver sheet of the pictures."

"Fiction is fiction, no matter what its medium of expression and if it is conceived by an imaginative mind it will be born a vivid story no matter where it is offered for public approval."

RECORD COAL TRAFFIC
Richmond, Va.—Hampton Roads set a new world record for traffic in coal during August. The three sets of terminals at Norfolk under the spur of the foreign demand resulting from the British miners' strike, handled 2,762,013 tons, worth approximately $14,000,000.

CLERKS GET LIST OF CANDIDATES ON NOVEMBER BALLOT

Zimmerman Announces Names to Be Voted on at Next Election

Madison—(P)—Certified lists of nominees whose names will be on the ballots in the November general election were mailed out to 71 county clerks in the state by Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman Wednesday night.

The Democratic, Prohibition, Republican and Socialist tickets were listed separately, and the names of independent candidates who filed nomination papers after the September primary were listed under "Independent Nominations."

The completed list was accompanied by sample ballots to be followed by the clerks in making out their ballots. A separate sheet was also included containing the sample referendum on recall of state, county, legislative, judicial and congressional officers by direct vote, the "beer" referendum, and the amendment which would provide that "the annual compensation of the governor shall be such sum, not less than $5,000, as may be fixed by law."

The certified list of candidates follows in part:

Democratic: Virgil H. Cady, Baraboo, Governor; William G. Evenson, Baraboo, Lieutenant Governor; Albert C. Wolfe, La Crosse, Secretary of State; Frank J. Grutz, Milwaukee, State Treasurer; Thomas M. Kearney, Racine, United States Senator.

Prohibition: David W. Emerson, Ashland, Governor; Henry H. Tubbs, Elkhorn, Lieutenant Governor; Clara G. Miller, Rhinelander, Secretary of State; Warren J. Robinson, Madison, State Treasurer; Burton S. Hawley, Sparta, Attorney General; Ella Tenney Sanford, Stevens Point, United States Senator.

Republican: Fred R. Zimmerman, Milwaukee, Governor; Henry A. Huber, Stoughton, Lieutenant Governor; Theodore Dammann, Milwaukee, Secretary of State; Solomon Levitan, Madison, State Treasurer; John W. Reynolds, Green Bay, Attorney General; John J. Blaine, Boscobel, United States Senator.

Socialist: Herman O. Kent, Milwaukee, Governor; Peter Gilles, Arkansas, Lieutenant Governor; George Eblehill, Green Bay, Secretary of State; Ada Evers, Horicon, State Treasurer; Benjamin W. Reynolds, Milwaukee, Attorney General; Leo Krzycki, Milwaukee, United States Senator.

Independent Nominations: Socialist

FROM SYMPHONY TO JAZZ ON PROGRAM OF SOUSA CONCERT

Afternoon Program to Be as Long and Interesting as Night Concert

Programs ranging from jazz to symphonic music and from vaudeville to grand opera have been arranged for the thirty-fourth annual tour of Lieut. Commander John Philip Sousa, and his band which will play at the Lawrence Memorial chapel in the afternoon and evening Oct. 14. The concert will be the first numbers of the Community Artist series.

The Trade in Appleton Week committee has been working for the Sousa concert with Carl J. Waterman, dean of Lawrence conservatory, as the band will appear here on one of the days of Trade in Appleton Week. People from neighboring towns and the surrounding country may visit Appleton when the Chamber of Commerce has arranged that special attention will be given to them and also may hear the famous band.

The afternoon concert has been arranged with as great a variety as the evening and has the same number of Rosa, Madison, United States Senator; No designation, J. N. Titterton, Omro, United States Senator.

Warn Badger Farmers To Watch For Hog Cholera

Madison—(P)—Warning was given Wisconsin farmers by the state department of agriculture Thursday to guard against outbreaks of hog cholera, after discovery by the department of several cases in separated localities.

The supply of hog cholera serum, department officials said in a statement, has been temporarily exhausted by extensive vaccination treatments throughout the country.

The following directions were given by the department:

"Watch your hogs carefully."

"Feed soft corn carefully, as it does make hogs more susceptible to hog cholera and other diseases."

"Don't invite trouble by visiting farms where hogs are sick."

"Call for trained help as soon as your hogs show signs of disease."

"To farmers in infected localities we advise that the vaccination treatment be used as soon as hog cholera serum is available."

"Investigation has revealed," the statement said, "that at this time hog cholera is more or less prevalent in the following localities:

"Grant-co, near Prairie du Chien and Lancaster;

"Rock-co, east of Janesville;

"La Crosse county, near La Crosse and Onalaska."

"Outagamie-co, near Appleton."

"Dane-co, near Madison and Oregon."

"Owing to the impossibility of securing hog cholera serum at this time it was not possible, on many of these farms, to offer the owner any hope of saving a member of the herd, as no other treatment is of any value in hog cholera outbreaks. We could only suggest that infected hogs be separated from the healthy as quickly as possible, and hope that a supply of serum will soon be available."

"The Wisconsin Department of Agriculture therefore sounds a warning note to all Wisconsin farmers."

ADVISES HI-Y BOYS TO TALK WITH AUTHORITY

J. Raymond Walsh, assistant principal of Appleton high school, talked to members of the H-Y club on Speaking with Authority, on a sub-Speaking with Authority at the regular meeting Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Walsh said people should be taught to speak with authority on a subject. He asked whether the school system as it teaches facts is able to find and train people to speak with authority such as Christ, Abraham, Lincoln, Woodrow Wilson, and other men who have accomplished great things or written great books, have done. He emphasized that speaking with authority meant with the authority of God.

Chairman of three standing committees were appointed. They were Aloysius Gage, archivist; Carleton 10th deputation; Franklin Werner, supper. Plans for a club Halloween party also were announced by the social committee.

Hooks and Eyes in Surgery

When H. L. Smith of Eureka, Kan., suffered a bad scalp wound in an auto accident, the attending surgeon was unable to draw the ends of the wound together in the usual way. He did, however, sew hooks on one side of the wound and eyes on the other, and by the use of rubber bands gradually drew the scalp together with good results.

MISLEADING WISCONSIN LABOR

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor now in convention at Detroit has unanimously and completely indorsed citizens' military training camps. The announcement will be received with surprise by labor in Wisconsin, which under the direction of its political mentors, has taken a hostile stand toward the training camps. At the state convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor in Green Bay this summer a resolution of opposition to military training camps was presented and adopted. This is not the first error labor in Wisconsin has been led into by the politicians with whom it has seen fit to cast its lot in recent years. It was persuaded to attack the world court by the Madison ring, notwithstanding labor nationally favored the world court. Labor has been deceived into believing that men like Blaine are its friends, whereas labor will find in the long run that they are not its friends, but are merely exploiters of its franchise.

Mr. Blaine has delighted in denouncing not only the state militia but even protective agencies, local and national, on the ground that they represent "militarism," shutting his eyes to the fact that the whole history of America is anti-militaristic, that it is the last nation in the world to fight or want war, that its whole influence is and always has been on the side of peace. Politicians of the Blaine type try to saturate labor with the idea that a navy, an army, militia and military training camps all are a contrivance of the plutocrats and vested interests to protect them in their greedy operations and to drag this country into foreign wars.

Mr. Blaine insisted not only on crippling the state militia, but condemned citizens' military training camps and vigilantes to safeguard communities against bandits, and refused to participate in the national observance of Defense day. His attitude on these matters is a clear libel of loyal American citizenship, of American ideals, of American nationalism. It is the artifice of a demagogue to get votes by setting up one class against another, that and nothing more. Unfortunately, labor has accepted too much of this sort of prejudiced and sinister political leadership. It has been particularly deceived in Wisconsin. Mr. Blaine and men of his type are not true friends of labor; in fact, they are its worst enemies. Everything they do or assume to do for it creates ill feeling between employee and employer, between labor and capital; works to keep them apart, suspicious and distrustful of each other; serves to breed misunderstanding, irritation, resistance.

Mr. Blaine and the Wisconsin Federation of Labor condemn citizens' training camps on the broad ground that they are "militaristic." The American Federation of Labor is in the hands of wiser executives. It is able to rise above political sophistry, demagoguery and class partisanship. It gives its emphatic indorsement to citizens' training camps on the ground that they promote the health and physical and moral well-being of American manhood, that they stimulate patriotism and advance our national protection. Obviously, that is the right view and that of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor and its political advisers the wrong view.

The all-around good and practical benefits of citizens' training camps are beyond contradiction. They are wholly in accord with the dictates of common sense and with healthy Americanism. The councils of the American Federation of Labor have in the main been clear-headed, well-balanced, constructive and patriotic. They have placed it above labor leadership anywhere in the world. It explains why labor has made such great advancement in the United States in recent years and why it will continue to progress. All true friends of labor will congratulate the American Federation on its stand with regard to citizens' training camps.

MORE SUPER-PROGRESS

Two men walked into the Commercial Exchange bank of Kenosha during the noon hour, held up the employees and escaped with between $10,000 and $15,000 in cash. There have been numerous bank robberies of this kind in Wisconsin in the last few months. Every week or so one occurs, and in the main the bandits are not captured.

Chicago and Illinois criminals find it comparatively easy to slip over into Wisconsin and raid its country banks. It was against this condition that the State Bankers association undertook to organize a statewide body of vigilantes. Governor Blaine immediately denounced the move with the demagogic statement that vigilantes were not needed and that they were contrary to the anti-militarism of super-progress, or some such rubbish. Banks are the tools and agencies of capital to exploit the people, therefore they need no protection, except what inefficient police departments and politicians who pose as sheriffs may find it convenient or fortunate to extend. The beauties of super-progress unfold themselves in many and engaging ways every day.

THE MISSING LINK

Professor Heberlein, of the Netherlands government service, has discovered at Trinil, in Central Java, a complete skull of the prehistoric, ape-like creature termed by some the "missing link" and by science, Pithecanthropus erectus. The skull was found at the same place where Professor Eugene Dubois, of the Amsterdam university, discovered in 1892, the upper part of a skull, two teeth and a thigh bone, from which was reconstructed the previously unknown ape-like human designated by the quite unpronounceable name.

Certainly if it is true, this discovery is one of the most important ever made in the field of anthropology. It may enable more accurate deductions to be made concerning the past history of the human race and may reasonably determine where we came from and through what stages we have passed in our development. As a vital link in world history the skull, if it indeed exists, will be invaluable.

That the skull has been discovered is indeed not unlikely. Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, head of the department of anthropology of the Smithsonian institution, who only last summer made his way up the Solo river, in central Java, and made a laborious search where Professor Heberlein is reported to have found the relic of our past, believes the report is true as do many eminent British scientists. Since the Dubois discovery at Trinil in 1892, the "graveyard of the race" has remained practically undisturbed until Dr. Hrdlicka's visit.

Each discovery of this character brings us a step nearer to the point where we shall be able to accurately piece out a connected history of our past.

UNIVERSAL BEAUTY

Beauty wanders here and there
Scattering her treasures rare.
Finding many a hidden place
To enrich with tender grace.
Hill and valley, field and lane
Hear the rustling of her train.

Artists paint her now and then,
Sometimes lines which poets pen
Carry something of her voice,
That the wide world may rejoice.
But her magic is revealed
By the daisy in the field.

Now she lingers by a tree,
Lights a vessel far at sea.
Tints a hill-top, sets the moon
Shimmering on a lake in June.
Spills her lovely tears at dawn
Just to glorify a lawn.

Never place so dim and far
But above a shining star.
Never a man so wordy quite
But finds something of delight Something in this world which he Thrills with happiness to see.

WHEN THE ELEPHANT CUTS A TUSK

No one would consider for a moment sweetening a good horse's oats with sugar in order to make him take them, argues Dr. Frank V. Bogert. He takes them, argues Dr. Frank V. Bogert, because he is a horse. Put the oats in the manger and let the horse take them or leave them. This sounds like horse sense. But it is really only horseman's sense.

"My conception of the proper treatment of the undernourished child," Dr. Bogert observes, "is to feed him as you would feed a good horse or dog."

Dr. Bogert reminds us that no animal in his natural environment obtains milk after leaving the mother's breast, and he appends to this fact a striking connotation: "No one would question the vigor of a lion or tiger in the wild, and an elephant develops a tusk 2 to 10 feet long."

Animals in the natural environment have milk for the sole or chief part of their food throughout the first tenth of their life. By this analogy it should be all right to feed the child milk mainly until the age of 6 to 8 years.

But Dr. Bogert's protest is not against the use of milk in the diet of the child. He says that small quantities of milk with the meals are probably beneficial, but large quantities, he believes are deleterious. He maintains that the recent hue and cry in favor of providing a quart of milk for every child every day, and if necessary providing part or all of this as a free school lunch or a school lunch at cost, is unwise. Supply more and better food in the home, at community expense if need be, but don't run the risk of running appetite and digestion by the school lunch. Most of those who get it, Dr. Bogert declares, don't need it, and those who do don't need it when they get it. That is, he would not encourage them to eat such food.

Milk is not a necessity for the older child, Dr. Bogert insists. The vitamins and lime salts are readily and freely supplied in other items of diet. The digestive tract requires the development which the addition of other foods than milk brings about. The eruption of the teeth should be taken as an indication that the digestive tract has developed sufficiently to prepare its own emulsions from solid foods, and the amount of milk should be lessened rather than increased at this period. The feeding intervals should be lengthened, too, to permit better recuperation of the digestive organs.

Dr. Bogert decries the practice of coaxing the reluctant child to consume large amounts of milk. He deplors the lengths to which some mothers go in this—one gave the child salt herrings as a bait for each drink of milk, and thus complied with the rule laid down by the United States labor department. Other mothers tempted the children with various concoctions of egg nog and divers and sundry flavors with the milk. Such children, however, are generally pale, flabby, peevish, tired, lacking in resistance and plagued by the poor digestion, even though they be up to the arbitrary standards of height and weight.

Less stress on the consumption of milk, and more on the addition of the solid foods, less "dippy food" and less between meals feeding, seems to be Dr. Bogert's plea.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Warm Soak

Is a warm bath every night injurious to one's health? I take one every night because I have no shower in our home, and have recently been warned that it will have an ill effect on my health. ("Anxious.")

Answer—You're too conscientious. We had no shower in our home for a long while, and I just refrained, in my dry way, until the family all exclaimed, "When we're going to have a shower!" The daily warm bath is a sore trial and vexation to your skin, but if your skin breaks up well under the treatment it will never harm your health. Better, perhaps, would be a tepid or cool bath.

Craves Huge Heads of Lettuce
What can be the significance of a sudden desire for head lettuce? Every day for the last two or three months I have consumed a head of lettuce. Is it likely to be injurious? I have felt no ill effects. (S. H.)

Answer—I can't surmise, but it is fine for your health in any case—the lettuce gives you an adequate amount of iron, calcium, vitamin and wholesome filler or fodder.

UNINVITED

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

ON—

MILITARY MUSIC

Washington, D. C.—There appears to have been a decline in the use of military music in connection with the Army and Navy of the United States. Some officers are of the opinion that military bands are superfluous save for peace time parades or military reviews and may be regarded as more in the way than anything else in time of war. Also some legislators called upon to appropriate funds for the support of the Army and Navy believe a large number of bands to constitute a needless extravagance.

Perhaps the introduction of the talking machine and of musical programs over the radio have caused some people to feel that there is enough music available and that the expense might be saved money by dispensing with the bands.

These considerations make a brief examination of music in war in point. True the World War brought about notable changes in the type of warfare but, nevertheless, it seems reasonable to believe that music will always have a place in military operations. It always has had in the past and human nature doesn't change much. Soldiers are certainly human beings and it is a foregone conclusion that a test vote taken among the soldiery of any modern army would show an overwhelming majority, in favor of the bands.

American military music did not take a very conspicuous part in the overseas work of the American Expeditionary Force in the last war but music was important in the British, French, and German armies. Some of the known exploits, some of the stories told by returned American soldiers, how important music was as a military feature. Every American soldier with half an ear for music is eloquent in telling of the inspiration drawn by Americans as well as French and British troops in the French military bands which are quite numerous. French bands, in some cases, carried their music to well within the firing line of pitched battles and heartened the troops with their martial cadences. Many fell from enemy fire.

FRENCH MILITARY BANDS IN WORLD WAR

The war stories for the very front say that to hear the spirited playing of Madoon or the Marseillaise put heart into many a battalion which was near to defeat. In this connection it will be remembered that from the time the later anthem—by millions considered to be the greatest piece of martial music ever composed—was written it has played a substantial part in all French military operations. It might be said that it can be given credit for making France a republic.

The German Watch on the Rhine was called upon by German commanders in the concert hall but there is fairly general agreement that bagpipe music is the most stirring martial music in the world heard in the open air above the roar of guns it means more than on the concert platform. There were many Scots regiments in the war and it seems almost fair to say that the bagpipes were heard in the front line of each outfit was the bravest man in it. When, at the zero hour, a regiment was ordered out of the trenches to charge across a no man's land laded with all manner of explosives and gas, the first man over the top was the bagpiper. The pipe is a rather unwieldy and ponderous instrument which meant that the piper was the first man to face the carnage, did so unarmored. With his pipes mainly skirling Bonnie Dundee, Dye Ken John Peel or some such inspiring tune he dashed toward the enemy and was the first to fall.

It would be difficult to find a more dramatic tale than that of the relief of Lucknow in one of the uprisings in India. A British force had been cut off and invested in the city of Lucknow. The war drums of thousands of native rebels drew nearer and nearer. There was an iron ring around the city. Food and especially water ran low. The British force holding the city were too few to attempt a sortie. There was nothing to do but wait and defend the city until reinforcements came up and broke through the native besiegers. As time passed the situation grew desperate. The commander concluded to surrender and attempt to fix terms with the native maharajahs, despite the fact that he knew it might mean the treacherous massacre of his entire force. He was within minutes of hoisting a flag of truce when faint and far away was heard the high shrill skirling of bagpipes: The Campbells are Coming! An especially dramatic fact was that the relief force was made up almost entirely of Campbells, one of the largest clans in all Scotland. Needless to say, the commander altered his decision. The Campbells broke through the native lines, the pipes still playing, and the city was saved.

SCOTLAND NEVER CONQUERED

An interesting theory might be advanced in support of the contention that the bagpipes are the most effective of martial music. Scotland is the only old country in the world which never has been conquered with the exception of China and Japan.

Two thousand years ago Rome conquered Gaul, which now is France, Spain, Germany, what now is Austria, Belgium, of which the present Holland then was a part and then set sail for England. England was conquered and the Romans held it for 480 years. Throughout that period the Roman legions tried desperately to take Scotland. Army after army was thrown against the border but not one ever effectively broke through.

The Danes, conquered at last the eastern half of England at a later date. The section they held to this day is called Danelaw. But when they attempted to take bleak Scotland they were thrust back.

William the Conqueror landed in 1066, long after the Romans had abandoned it and throughout the reigns of the Conqueror and his successors after attempts were made to subjugate Scotland but not one succeeded. To be sure, later attempts of the Scotch to take England by military operations failed but throughout the centuries, from the first onslaught of Rome in the time of Christ, Scotland held her to this day against all invaders. Finally she took England. The son of Mary Queen of Scots became King of England as well as of Scotland and his descendants still reign. The present dynasty came to the throne because of the marriage of the daughter of James Stuart, King of England and Scotland to a German Princess.

See-Sawing On

Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—Any place that flaunts extravagance as does Manhattan is certain to breed imitation which isn't always cheap.

And those who spend their money freely in one direction are certain to have to check in others.

Hence the many paragraphs which come from this village of the seven millions concerning the young man who sports spats and a cane, attends tea dances but lives in a cheap flat bedroom; or the young woman who appears in glittering evening dress, but may be found of evenings mending runs in her everyday silk stockings; or the shop girl who sports a fur coat and goes without lunch to meet the installments which continue until the very last hair has fallen; or the absconder who tosses his thefts away in the night clubs.

Almost every person of moderate means is trying to get something for nothing—or nearly nothing.

The "something" is invariably an extravagance which Mr. Average Man can ill afford.

And thus there continues, year on end, a round of swindling which, totaled, would probably soar to millions. The most recent and amusing instance concerns a young man who bought a quantity of "expensive French perfume."

He had a number of young ladies before whom he wished to make the grand gesture and opportunity seemed to wink at him when a man with a foreign accent appeared with perfume bottles bearing labels of one of the best celebrated Parisian firms. The deal was closed. For a ridiculously small percentage of their value he purchased half a dozen bottles.

So he gave to "the girls" and, recalling the birthday of a sister, he gave her the sixth.

Finding it impossible to remove the glass stopper a small hole was bored through the side of the bottle. All stood around waiting to be intoxicated by the escaping aroma. Alas, none came. Investigation showed he had purchased water—and not such good water at that.

For just as bootleggers make fancy labels to order for bad booze, so "perfumegleggers" recreate labels for their worthless wares.

Phones sales appear with skins from Russia—carefully smuggled in, you know, and "absolutely nothing must be said about the deal." For the simple reason that analysts will show the fur to be dyed cat.

Silks, satins, stockings, jewelry, automobiles—everything, and anything is "bootlegged" in New York to those who want to keep up appearances on nothing.

And since there are 7,000,000—to say nothing of the floating population—the complaints of fraud are unending, although the true number of victims never will be known since so many hesitate to admit they have been "suckers."

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

SHELLS BUILT BY SNAIL-LIKE CREATURES
By Austin H. Clark

The snail-like creature that constructs this shell, as it grows, attaches to the growing edge of the shell stones, dead shells and such other objects as are available.

This individual, which I found in Tokyo Bay, Japan, had picked up pieces of pumice stone and steamer clinkers, as well as the shell of a smaller gastropod and part of the broken shell of a bivalve.

Upon this animated mass of waste material are growing numerous tubeforming worms called serpulids, and two young oysters. Many other shells gathered at the same time were entirely covered with steamer clinkers.

Shells more or less similar to this are found in all warm seas.

FOREST FIRES ARE RECALLED AS HIGH WATERS HIT NATION

Devastation and Loss of Life Around Green Bay Was Tremendous

Green Bay—Recent floods, hurricanes and tornadoes, throughout the nation, have recalled the devastating forest fire which caused an estimated loss of 1,000 lives in this section 55 years ago Friday.

The conflagration wiped out the village of Peshtigo, devastating everything within its path. It was borne on the wings of a high wind of tornado proportions which converted smoldering forest fires into one sheet of flame, devastating the farming regions on the mainland and peninsula with a high loss of life and damage running into the scores of millions. The date Oct. 8, 1871, is by coincidence that of the Chicago fire.

The story is told in the "Sketch of the Great Fires in Wisconsin," by Frank Tilton, and published at Green Bay by Robinson and Kusterman, in 1871. This small volume, now out of print, is among the most prized possessions of Chief of Police Thomas E. Hawley, Green Bay.

The summer of 1871 was memorable for its unparalleled drought. The winter preceding was comparatively without snow and the spring was nearly without the usual rain.

The fires began to spring up as early as September 10, over an area reaching from Fond du Lac on the south, the lake on the east, the Wolf river on the west and the Menominee river on the north. As the weeks wore on and the fires increased in number the pioneers began to fear for their homes, saw mills and farm lands.

The fire was felt by railroad officials of the Northwestern company as the lack of water and heat along the new road from Fort Howard to Menominee made it hard to keep the men at work. Sometimes wells were sunk to a depth of 10 feet in the swamps for water.

On September 24, just two weeks before the fatal Sabbath, saw men battling desperately to save their villages and farms.

Excerpts from Mr. Tilton's book describe the destruction of the village.

"A breeze sprang up from the southwest, as hot as a sirocco. Then came a low rumbling noise, like the distant approach of a train of cars, now great tongues of flame were increasing to a roar like thunder. And seen leaping in the air above the tree-tops and rapidly approaching the village.

"In less time than it takes to write of a tornado, the buildings nearest the woods were on fire, and the very air seemed an atmosphere of flame. Burning coals began to drop in the village, first like stars of meteors of the night and then as thick as the snows of winter.

"As if by common instinct, all seemed to rush toward the river which ran through the center of the village. The prevailing idea on each side seemed to be that the other side would escape.

Broken Glass Cannot Be Left In City's Streets

"You pick up that glass!"
"I won't!"
"You will!"
"I'll bust you on the jaw!"
"I'll call the cops!"
And all over a broken milk bottle dropped by a carrier on the sidewalk in front of an Appleton business establishment. The proprietor told the man to pick up the broken glass and he picked up the largest pieces and threw them in the road beside the curb. On being told that he couldn't leave the glass there the carrier became abusive and threatened to "bust" the proprietor's jaw.

DAN CUPID LOAFED DURING SEPTEMBER

Starts Work in Earnest in October, County Clerk's Records Show

Cupid took a vacation during September but has started October auspiciously according to marriage license applications filed with County Clerk John E. Hantschel. So far this month five couples have signed their intention of each adding a chapter to the "two can live cheaper than one" theory, whereas the September average was well below one couple a day with only 28 licenses applied for during the entire month. From Sept. 25 until Oct. 1, the office drew a blank on marriage license applications, the books show.

hence the rush for the bridge. The bridge was soon on fire, and presented an awful scene, with crowds on each side suffering with the withering heat and unable to reach the fancied safety of the other side. For large numbers the river was the only resort and they plunged in, some to drown, and others to escape after enduring the most fearful tortures. Scores failed to reach the river at all; strangled by the smoke or foul gas as they fell.

"Within half an hour—some say within ten minutes—from the time the first building caught the entire village was in flames. The great sheets of fire curled and rolled over the ground like breakers on a reef. At one moment, the earth would be lighted up with almost the brightness of day, the next the darkness would be almost total. All this time the tornado was blowing with a force sufficient to unroof buildings.

"That was a horrible night, and one on which the survivors never look back without heart-sickness. Standing in the cold water or clinging to logs—the logs sometimes on fire were men, women and children, gasping for breath, blinded by smoke and saving themselves from burning even in the water only by covering themselves with blankets which they kept wet, or by wetting their heads continually.

"Before the morning dawned, the entire village of Peshtigo, with the single exception of an unfinished dwelling, was utterly swept out of existence and the ground a desert waste with the very location of the streets a matter of doubt."

BUTTERMAKERS TO CONVENE OCT. 12

Medford Man Will Discuss Importance of Good Cream,
How to Get It

The Importance of Good Cream and How to Get It will be the subject of an address by Albert Long of Medford at the twenty-six annual convention of the Wisconsin Buttermaker's association at Fond du Lac, Oct. 12, 13 and 14. The Fond du Lac association sent invitations to more than 400 buttermakers of the state, inviting them to the convention.

Other speakers will be President C. J. Dodge of Windsor, Mayor R. D. Haentze of Fond du Lac, H. T. Sondergaard of the University of Wisconsin, V. S. Keppel of Holman and C. N. Wilson, chief accountant, Wisconsin department of markets, Madison.

A butter judging contest will be conducted from 8 to 9:45 Wednesday, Oct. 13, at the Winnebago Cheese company warehouse on exhibits entered by state manufacturers. The annual election, reports of committees and business meeting will be held at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon. A banquet at Hotel Retlaw at 6:30 Wednesday evening has been arranged by the Fond du Lac Association of Commerce. Following the banquet the sale of convention butter and awarding of prizes will take place.

Prizes will be awarded to district winners and also to winners of state prizes. Counties in the fourth state district include Outagamie, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Manitowish, Brown, Winnebago, Calumet, Door and Kewaunee.

MAIL EARLY CAMPAIGN STARTED BY POSTOFFICE

The annual campaign to have patrons of the post office mail early has been started by Postmaster William H. Zuehlke. Farmers on the rural routes are reminded that rural carriers have a holiday on Christmas and no mail will be delivered on that day. City carriers also have a holiday and patrons are asked to remember the mailman and do their Christmas shopping as early as possible.

"Y" PLANS THREE BOYS' "KICKOFFS"

Younger Boys Will Hold Rally Friday Evening at 7:30

Three membership "kickoffs" for boys of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at the association building Friday and Saturday, according to John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. Last year all the boys were entertained at one party but this year the large number caused a division.

The younger boys or pioneers will hold their rally at 7:30 Friday evening. The proper or Friendly Indians will be entertained at 1:30 Saturday afternoon and the older boys at 7:30 Saturday night. The program of the boys' division for the year will be outlined to each group and talks will be made. Membership buttons will be given to boys who secured enough new members during the drive to join the Spitzzerkingum club. Each boy who has secured three members will receive a silver button and those who have secured in 10 members will get a gold award. For 25 members the boys receive a gold award studded with a small diamond.

Each group will organize and elect its own officers for the year if the boys desire. Announcement will be made by A. P. Jensen, physical director of the boys' gymnasium schedule for the year. The rallies will be concluded by games.

Behold The Thumb-Jerker

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Each age brings its own words. Mr. Webster would certainly push up his spectacles and bend low over the present-day dictionary if he could see some of the additions to the child of his wearisome labors. We have "gate-crasher," "cake-eater" and "high-hat-ter." Mr. Webster might well scratch his head over the word "thumb jerker."

A thumb jerker is a person who stands out on a road and jerks his thumb at passing automobiles, indicating that he wishes a lift in their direction. Boys on summer trips call it hitch-hiking. Tourists stop and take them in to carry them a short distance. Then they pick up another car, or another car picks them up, and eventually they reach their destination without trouble or expense to themselves.

Formerly there was a generous tolerance among tourists in automobiles. Stop and pick up the thumb jerker. I hear complaints recently that people are getting stung with their cars and won't give them rides any more.

If any young man reads this who happens to have a car, he should be glad to know that the driver is whizzing past him these fine autumn days in self defense merely. There is not only

What had made them grow apart? What was this terrible thing that came between always?

In the lives of all my acquaintances, rich and poor, there was some hitch somewhere which made life and love a very different proposition from the life I had dreamed.

As if to further mix up my problem, I met Jerry as I left the apartment house.

"How did you know I was here?" I asked.

"I saw Mamie on the street," he answered promptly, "after you ran away from me this morning and she told me that I would probably find you at the Circle. I went there, and after describing Joan and you to Jim Smith, he said that you probably were over here."

"It's a queer place for you to be, Judy," he said, looking around. "I don't like you to go to such places without some man with you."

"Immediately the old fighting spirit rose in me. Here was Jerry finding fault with me for doing something that he knew nothing about. Just when I had softened toward him, and when I had made up my mind that perhaps the safety of Jerry's home was best for me, I knew that I could not accept it."

Further, I looked up into his face and saw his mouth had settled into a decisive line. I knew he was thinking that he knew what was best for me, perhaps he did, but I also knew that I did not love Jerry Hathaway well enough to let him decide my life for me. I must still go on my own way.

Although I had hung back, Jerry had almost pushed me toward his car. I had almost pushed me toward his car. I had almost pushed me toward his car.

"Judy," he said, "do you know you have made an enemy for some reason of that man at the Circle. You're all together too independent. Don't you know, that to worst place in the world for a girl like you who has no one to protect her, no one to stand back of her, is a big, cruel city like this one?"

"Where are you going, Jerry?" I interrupted.

"Wherever you want to go," he answered quickly.

"I'm so tired I could die," I found myself saying, under my breath.

"Judy, let me take you out into the country. I don't know what trouble you have been in, but I have a new notion that it concerns Miss Meredith. Whatever it is your face is pale and drawn, and your eyes are set in great deep circles. Let me take you out somewhere where you can forget, Judy."

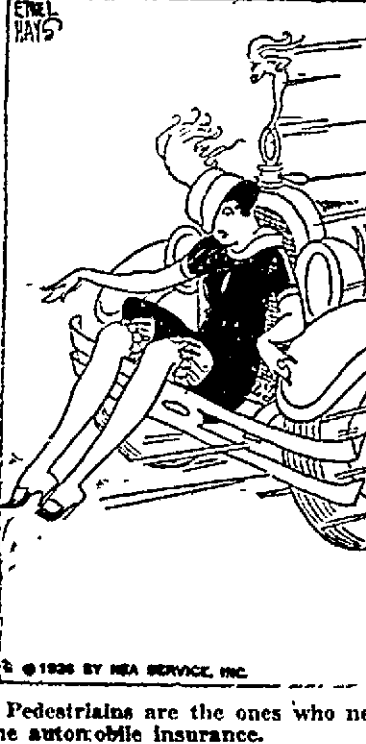

"But, Jerry, you have your work to do. You can't be at my beck and call all the time. I know you have been tagging me around all day."

"You know very well, young lady," he said, "that I've been at your call ever since the first time I saw you. However, I can't say that you have a new notion that it concerns Miss Meredith. Whatever it is your face is pale and drawn, and your eyes are set in great deep circles. Let me take you out somewhere where you can forget, Judy."

"I know a little farmhouse, my dear, that has a path up to it leading through a shady lane, lined on each side with syringa blossoms. There is a wide porch there and the comfortable woman will bring us a little table and set it out where we get a

Small Women Find The Problem Of Dress One Of Most Difficult Hard To Find Evening Gowns That Lend Dignity And Poise

BY HENRI BENDEL

NEW YORK—There are problems and pitfalls for every type of woman, just as there are compensations.

The tall, stately woman who is so regal in black velvet and so imposing in her sequined, low-cut evening frock has considerable difficulty with her sport clothes and day attire.

And the petite, flowerlike creature who is so appealing in muslin, so casual in her sport frocks, and so adorable in her simplicity finds it a problem to buy evening gowns.

The small woman lacks these long sweeping lines that brocades and gorgeous fabrics call for. Her own charm is submerged when she is decked out in brilliants and smothered in fur.

Anytime a woman's dress becomes more important than she, and when her personality is lost beneath the grandeur of her gown, she is badly dressed.

COLOR MOST IMPORTANT

Because the small woman cannot command or dazzle with her evening gown, she must produce her effect more subtly. She must strive not for the dramatic, but for the exquisite. Therefore, I believe color is her most important consideration.

Unless she is exceptionally fair skinned, I do not advise a black evening gown, unless it is relieved by color. White is usually charming on the small woman, and chiffon lace or tulle is usually a wise selection in material. Since delicacy is the desired effect, the most fragile and webby materials should be employed to gain it.

Usually a one-color effect is more effective on the small woman, and though ruffles and frills are her natural right, purity of line must never be sacrificed.

The "baby doll" look is so obvious to appeal to the sophisticated woman of small stature, who demands that her clothes have the dignity and poise she herself has acquired.

Today I have photographed three evening gowns appropriate for the small woman, that were carefully planned to meet the needs of Sara Sothorn, herself a small woman, for her comedy, "The Little Spitfire."

Tulle that shades from yellow to deep orange makes the frock with the many-ruffled skirt, and a bouquet of asters in shades of orange forms the perky shoulder bouquet. At the normal waistline is a grille of orange colored ribbon. With such a bouffant type of skirt, only the simplest treatment of the blouse would be effective. SLIGHTLY EXOTIC FLAVOR

The other ruffled model is one of Goupy's, and illustrates a clever use of black chiffon. The skirt is hand-

BREAKFAST—Cantaloupe balls, cooked wheat cereal, thin cream, scrambled eggs, crisp rye toast, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Baked meat balls, celery, prune bread, baked apple dumplings with cream, milk, tea.

DINNER—Chili con carne, corn on the cob, tomato and cabbage salad, grape pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

The recipe for chili con carne is given in reply to a request. This is a Mexican dish and should be quite "hot" as to seasoning. However, it's far better to sacrifice a little "color" of the dish for American personal tastes if too highly flavored dishes are not liked.

Chili powder can be used if chili peppers are not available, 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons according to taste being sufficient.

CHILI CON CARNE

Two pounds flank steak of beef, 3 chili peppers, 1 large onion, 3 tablespoons butter or drippings, 3 tablespoons flour, Mexican beans, 2 cups hot water, 2 teaspoons salt.

Remove seeds from peppers and let stand in hot water for 10 minutes. Discard seeds and add pulp to water. Melt butter and add meat cut in small pieces. Brown on all sides. Add onion minced and chili water. Cook until meat is tender, adding water necessary to keep two cups over meat. Stir flour to a smooth paste with a little cold water and add to boiling meat mixture, stirring constantly. Cook five minutes and serve with beans boiled until tender separately.

heady fragrance of the white blossoms from each side of the path.

"Over that table she will lay a cloth of cool white linen and there will be pickles and jams and honey and other country goodies placed upon it. A great pitcher of cold buttermilk and fresh white homemade bread will follow, and last, but not least, she will bring us a half broiled chicken in a bed of watercress."

I suddenly remembered that I hadn't eaten anything since the night before, almost 24 hours before, and impulsively said, "You draw a beautiful picture, Jerry. I'll go with you if you will take Joan Meredith with us."

Jerry's face clouded.

"I don't know her, Judy. I've seen her many times and always avoided her. You know I don't care for society."

"But you'll like Joan immediately," I answered. "I did, Jerry. I've only known her about 48 hours, and it seems to me that I have known and loved her better than anyone else in all my life."

"Better than Mamie?" he asked.

"Not better, but in a different way," I answered.

DULL-USTERED KIDS SMART FOR FALL FOOTWEAR

Fringe is most important for evening gowns and wraps this season. We find three tiers of fringe of 5-inch width acting as a flounce effect at the bottoms of several smart velvet evening coats. Usually the fringe matches exactly the color of the velvet and it dips downward slightly at the rear of the garment, extending upward toward the front. Frocks using the tiered skirt effect have the tiers edged in fringe of silk or beads. Hem borders of many frocks are terminated with fringe.

DOLMAN LINES

Dolman lines are dominating in evening wraps; hence wide sleeves and loose wrappy lines are depicted in velvet, fur, metal brocades and gold, or silver lame cloth. Collars and cuffs of these dolman coats are usually trimmed in fur.

The tendency to raise the waistline upward in front is typified in many instances on fall gowns. Where the rear of the gown has the deep blouse, the raised waistline is repeatedly used at the front. Many times the rear blouse terminates in drapery as it nears the front and is held by an ornament of some sort.

BRIMMED HAT

The brimmed hat must be of drooping type to be considered smart at present. Small, medium and wide brims are all being used in felts and velvets and brims are invariably slightly drooping. The popular street hat has a high draped crown with an irregularly turned-down brim. Some women turn the brim upward directly over the forehead with the remaining-brim dipping irregularly. One must wear the hat well down over the eyes to do this successfully. Belting ribbon is the popular trim for these rakish shapes.

Though the black shoe will be extremely popular as fall wears, black patent will not be considered as smart as ebony suede or some of the dull-ustered luts. Black shoes trimmed with red insets and strapings are popular at present.

Household Hints

SAVING SPACE

In a small kitchen, it is absolutely necessary to keep the dishes washed up as you go along so that you conserve space and energy.

COOKING CEREALS

When cooking cereals, have the water boiling hot and the salt in the water before you add the cereal.

SPOIL EASILY

Keep cereals in a covered glass jar, in a cool, dry place, as they spoil very easily.

GIVES VARIETY

TESTING EGGS

When you doubt the freshness of an egg, put it into a tumbler of water. If it sinks, very well, if it floats it is unfit to eat.

SPINACH OMELET

A delicious omelet is made by adding a cup of cooked spinach to the

ed with three tiers of velvet ribbon combining colors that shade from hen-na to vesteria. These same lovely shades are repeated in the huge bunch of sweet peas that form a corsage where the surplus collar meets.

The combination of velvet and chiffon is a happy one, and the use of high colors on a transparent black foundation gives a slightly exotic flavor without losing any of the delicacy.

Another dignified but thoroughly appropriate frock is the third, designed by Molyneux, which is developed in chartreuse-colored chiffon. The entire skirt is exquisitely embroidered and discretely outlined with pearl beads. Bands of passementerie, outlined in pearls, are used to give length to the blouse and define the waistline.

FASHION HINTS

TIP FROM PARIS

The bolero is featured extensively in the Paris openings and offers an excellent opportunity to introduce the vest of light colored crepe or organdie in a dark frock.

ROSE IS POPULAR

Cherry red and the very deep shades of rose and pink are very popular for evening wear.

VELVET RETURNS

Many of the new capes and coats for evening come in velvet, embroidered or beaded and are finished about the edge with deep silk fringe.

GOLD INSETS

Insets of gold lace trim the skirts of velvet and chiffon dinner frocks. Gold lame cloth, pleated, is used in the same way.

BROADTAIL—A CLOTH

The broadtail of this season is very thin and supple—almost like broadcloth, and it makes the most effective straight-line coats with tailored collars and cuffs.

FROM THE SPANISH

A fur wrap that seems to have received its inspiration from the Spanish shawl is made of a large square of moleskin outlined with heavy taupe colored fringe.

eggs just before they are put into the frying pan.

FLAVORING DRESSING

A tablespoon of tomato catsup added to the French dressing will give it an unusual flavor. Minced chutney is also an addition.

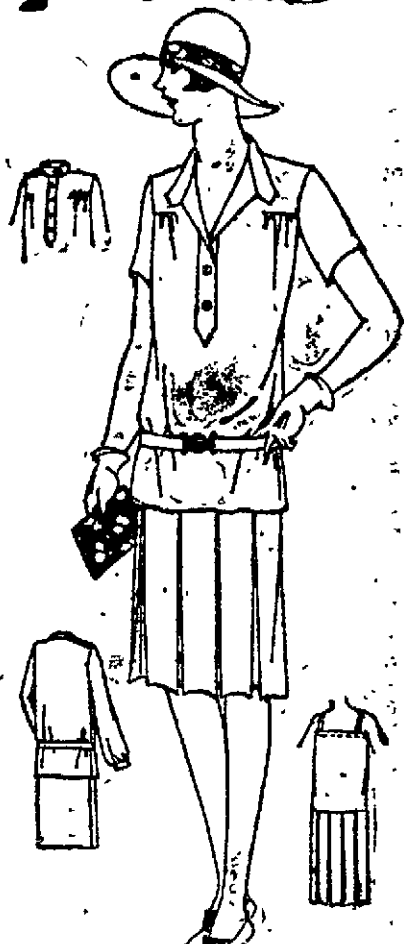

BLOT, DON'T RUB

Always dry lettuce in a clean towel or in absorbent paper before using in salad, as water clings to it and often ruins the taste of the salad dressing.

Two piece dress

Perfection of detail is noted in this swagger sports design No. 2616. The two-piece skirt attached to a camisole body, uses box-plais across the front for smartness. Gathers in blouse forms yoke effect and also provides fullness across the bust. The narrow belt defines the waistline, giving the effect of the Page Boy Silhouette. Flat crepe silk, faille crepe silk, shantung, rajah and georgette crepe are used for its development. Pattern can be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. The 36-inch size requires 2 1/2 yards of 40-inch material with 1 yard of 32-inch material for camisole. Price 15 cents, in stamps or coin (coin preferred).

12 Attend Chapter Of East Star

Twelve members of Fidelity chapter, Order of Eastern Star, attended the second day of the grand lodge session of the Wisconsin grand chapter Wednesday at Madison. The lodge convened Tuesday and sessions were held until Thursday morning. The meetings were held in the new Madison Masonic temple. Sessions were attended by 3,000 persons. The attendance was so large that the members were forced to come to the lodge rooms at 6 o'clock in the evening to get seats for the 8 o'clock session. Four University of Wisconsin girls took the degrees of the order Thursday.

Appleton people attending the sessions were Ruth Saecker, worthy matron of Fidelity chapter, E. M. Gorroo, worthy matron, Mrs. Ernest M. Morse, assistant matron, Mrs. Paul Hackbert, past matron, and W. E. Smith, past grand patron of Wisconsin, official delegates of the local chapter: Mrs. W. E. Smith, Mrs. E. M. Gorroo, Mrs. Henry P. Madson, Mrs. Marie L. Boehm, Mrs. Vern Ames and Mr. and Mrs. Erik Madson. Mrs. Madson is conductress of the local chapter, and Mrs. Ames is assistant conductress. Mrs. Hackbert, besides being a past matron of the local chapter, is past grand warder of the Wisconsin grand lodge.

The five local delegates and Mrs. Boehm attended the sessions all three days while the other local members attended only the Wednesday meetings. Mrs. Boehm sang solos at each session.

Local delegates will report on the sessions at the regular meeting Wednesday evening at the Masonic temple. The annual memorial service, in which all officers take part, also will be held Wednesday evening. The services were stopped a few years ago but it was decided to resume them again this year.

D. A. R. GIVES THREE PARTIES ON SAME DAY

Three card parties to be held at 2:30 on the afternoon of Oct. 16 will be given by the Appleton chapter Daughters of the American Revolution and the proceeds will go into a fund to purchase a picture of President McKinley for McKinley junior high school. ## CLUB TO HAVE CLASSES FOR "UKE" PLAYERS

Ukelele classes will be reorganized at Appleton Womans club this year to meet at 7 o'clock Monday evenings, according to an announcement made Thursday. Repeated calls for ukelele instruction have been made at the club this fall and the services of Miss Kathleen McCabe were secured for teaching.

Accomplished players and beginners will be eligible for membership in the classes, it was said. Ukelele classes have been popular at the club in other years, it was announced, one season the enrollment being 88 persons.

LODGE NEWS

A committee was appointed at the meeting of Fraternal Order of Eagles Wednesday night in Eagle hall to make arrangements for a Halloween party to be given Oct. 29. Nels Galpeau is chairman of the committee and will be assisted by Henry Steadt, Arnold Schultz, and Roy Koester. Regular business was discussed.

Seventeen tables were in play at the regular monthly visiting day of the Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles Wednesday afternoon in Eagle hall. Prizes were won by Mrs. Henry Jamp, Mrs. Paul Schroeder and Mrs. Edward Torgow at schafkopf and by Mrs. A. Delour and Mrs. M. Knaack at dominoes. Mrs. Albert Boitz was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements and was assisted by Mrs. Catherine Henry, Mrs. Edward Knaack, Mrs. Edward Polman, Mrs. E. Jockas and Mrs. Frank Fiebo.

Mrs. William Martin gave a report on the district convention of Rebekah lodge at Two Rivers at the meeting of the local Deborah Rebekah lodge Wednesday night in Odd Fellows hall. Plans were discussed to initiate a class of candidates at the next meeting. Miss John McCarter was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for the initiation. The Rebekah Free Loan social club will hold its next meeting at 2:30 next Wednesday afternoon in the parlors at Odd Fellows hall, it was announced. Hostesses will be Mrs. Walter Blake, Mrs. Oscar Ballinger and Mrs. Dennis Shapp.

An open meeting of the Equitable Fraternal Aid society will be held at 8 o'clock Friday night in Gold Mine hall at which time officers for the ensuing year will be installed. M. J. Williams of Neenah, supreme vice president, will be the installing officer.

OLD BOARD INSPECTS REWIRING OF SCHOOL

An inspection of the electric lighting work done by the Art-Kilbourn Co. at the Third and Fifth ward school buildings will be made Thursday evening by the old Third district school board and a committee appointed from the board of education. The contract was let last spring when the district school system was still of the old type. The board of education thought it best that the Third district school board supervise the work as the original plans had been made by the members.

The work at the schools was completed this week. Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, said.

COUNCIL TO INSPECT CITY HOME THURSDAY

The annual inspection of the city home by the common council will be conducted Thursday evening. R. F. McGilgan, chairman poor committee, announced at the council meeting Wednesday night. Members of the council will meet at the city hall shortly after 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Dinner will be served at the home at 5:30, after which the inspection will be made.

92 Women At Classes In Aquatics

Ninety-two Appleton women took swimming instruction at the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool at the first women's day of the year Wednesday under the direction of Miss Agnes Vanneman, physical education secretary at the Appleton Womans club. The most popular classes were those for college girls at 2:30 in the afternoon when 21 swimmers attended; for school girls at 4:45 in the afternoon when 22 received instructions; and those for business and professional women at 5:30 and 7 o'clock. In the evening when 17 and 19 persons, respectively, were present.

A number of women who had registered did not attend the classes Wednesday, it was said, so that the final enrollment probably will be considerably greater than 100, Miss Vanneman believed.

All of the classes are still small enough to allow more members without crowding the pool, it was announced.

Tryouts for a life saving group will be given by the director at 8:30 Wednesday evening Oct. 13. Anyone who believes she is a competent swimmer and can dive is eligible for these tryouts. Miss Vanneman said. Both junior and senior life saving groups will be formed. The junior test is given to girls of the ages of 12 to 17 years and the senior to girls of 17 and upwards.

CLOSE SCHOOLS AS TEACHERS GO TO OSHKOSH MEETING

Appleton Mentors on Program
for Northeastern Wisconsin
Convention

All the public schools in Appleton, including the junior and senior high schools, the grammar schools and the vocational school will close Friday to allow the teachers to attend the meeting of the Northeastern Teachers' association in Oshkosh. More than 1,000 teachers are expected at the convention. Ben J. Rohan, president, said and the public has been invited to hear the lectures at the general sessions in the morning and evening.

A vote was taken several weeks ago among the teachers whether they would like to go to the Oshkosh meeting. A majority of those in any school wished to go, the school would be closed and all of the teachers would be expected to attend, it was said. About 50 per cent of the rural school teachers of Outagamie-co will go to the convention, it was announced.

A number of teachers in the Appleton public schools and at Lawrence college will be included on the program of the sectional meetings. They are Miss Blanche McCarty, Prof. A. L. Franke, Frank Younger, Miss Elsie Koppin, Prof. G. C. Gast, Prof. L. C. Baker, Miss Alma Bohmann, Dr. E. W. Wriston, Prof. A. A. Trever, H. Hebble, Miss Kathleen Kimball, Prof. James L. Mursell, Miss Carrie E. Morgan, R. J. Grant and Miss Maye Holmberg. H. L. Post, superintendent of the Pettibone-Peabody Co., and A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, also will speak at the meetings.

A chorus of boys from the Appleton junior and senior high schools will sing at the general morning session and also will give a demonstration during the talk on The Non-Musical Child by Dr. E. L. Baker at the music sectional meeting in the afternoon. Members of the chorus will be Joseph Plette, Alfred, Ventin, George Bernhardt, Paul Rennert, Edward Burr, William Wilson, Allen Wiese, Charles Herzog, Arthur Froelich, Chester Krausch, Robert McCloughlin, David Britton, Harold Gahan, Franklin Schniege, Earl Mollet, Ralph Johnson, Robert Strassburger, Henry Dunsmuir, and Richard Buxton.

TWO BISHOPS TALK AT CATHOLIC WOMEN'S MEET

Milwaukee (AP)—Two bishops of the Roman Catholic church will appear before the 1926 convention of the National Council of Catholic women, to be held here October 11 to 13.

Included among the speakers are the Rt. Rev. Jos. Schrembs, bishop of Cleveland; Rt. Rev. Bishop Beckman of Omaha; the Rev. Albert C. Fox and Rev. E. A. Fitzpatrick of Marquette University; the Rev. John F. Burke, secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D. C.; Miss Mary G. Hawks, Trenton, N. J.; Dr. John A. Lapp, Chicago; and Mrs. Cecil Smith, Sherman, Texas.

"Forward—Serving Home, Church, Country"—Slogan submitted by the Fond du Lac Council of Catholic Women, has been selected as the convention watchword out of 152 such slogans submitted.

Welcoming addresses will be delivered on the opening night of the convention by Archbishop Messner and Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee.

Father Burke will speak on the Mexican question.

STAGE SCREEN

GEORGE WHITE'S "SCANDALS"
No announcement of the current theatrical season is likely to cause more stir among theatre-goers than the appearance here on Wednesday Oct. 13, mat and eve at Fishers Appleton Theatre of the George White's "Scandals"—Sixth Annual Edition. After a protracted run in New York at the Apollo Theatre where it was given to record breaking receipts, it tested the capacity successfully of the playhouses of Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis and Cincinnati. The management is insistent on stressing the fact that the entire New York and Chicago production will be seen here, including the famous George White Beauty Chorus.

It is the boast of the producers of "Scandals" that the members of its chorus can actually dance. In the early days of the theatre the chorus girl was supposed to dance, and she did, but the vogue soon lapsed and finally through disuse from the American stage. The chorus girl of the ordinary musical comedy is chosen primarily for her ability to wear smart clothes, or to show the contour of her ample. George White has long been familiar with the average inability of the native chorus girl to dance—if not inability at least unwillingness—so when arranging for his Sixth Annual Revue he hit on a novel innovation. He decided on a genuine chorus, one that could do everything in unison and with actual rhythm. How well he has succeeded will be demonstrated when his big Revue is shown here.

The production of George White's "Scandals" Sixth Annual Edition—entails a large roster of principals among whom may be mentioned the charming comedienne Jeanne White, sister of the producer, George White, another comedian Freddie Lightner supported by the following well known players: Ace, Kimm and Ross, Leland Sisters, Walter Giggs, Thie De Torgos, Emile De Vos, Marcella Smythe, Starlight, Leora Dietrich, Jennie White, The Yarell Sisters, Rosella McQueen and the Royal Philippine Sheik Orchestra. Three cars are employed to transport the scenery and equipment of the company. A special orchestra under the personal direction of Baldy Wetzel travels with the company in order that a perfect production may be visualized by the onlooker. George White's Sixth Annual "Scandals" is a stupendous spectacle of his beauty chorus of sixty is a dazzling array of splendor in their gay and glittering colorful costumes.

A PICTURE WELL WORTH SEEING

A red-blooded, virile film drama, "Morganson's Finish," is the feature picture attraction at the New Bijou three days starting today. In the cast are such well-known screen players as Anita Stewart, Mahlon Hamilton and Crawford Kent and Rose Tapley in the other characterizations.

The picture was directed by Fred Windemere and is from the story of the same name by Jack London. The scenes are laid in the East and then

BAD COLD? TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

No headache, constipation, bad cold or sour stomach by morning

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

in the far stretches of the gold country of Alaska. It tells of the love of two men for the one girl, and the machination of the elder of the two suitors to rid himself of his formidable rival. The younger of the men, determined to win riches for the girl he loves, leaves for the gold fields accompanied by the rival who wishes to destroy his barrier to the hand of the girl he loves. How his vile schemes were all frustrated and the younger and dashing of the two finally won the heart and hand of the girl is the basis of this stirring Jack London story.

A terrific fight between the two men in the deep snows of the Far North country is one of the best of its kind ever filmed and held an interested and excited audience breathless during its unfolding.

SPECIAL CHILDRENS MATINEE AT APPLETON THEATRE

Saturday afternoon until six o'clock all boys and girls under twelve years of age will be admitted to the show at Fishers Appleton Theatre for only half the usual admission. In addition we have secured one thousand sailor caps which will be given away also to all children attending this special performance. An unusually good program is scheduled, one that the management can recommend that the parents let their children see. The Rhythm Kings the fourteen piece stage band who are now playing madcap and night on the stage of this theatre will perform symphonized arrangements of the latest popular hits assisted by several song and dance artists. The feature play will be an adaptation of Louis J. Vance's popular novel "The Lone Wolf Returns," a sequel to the extremely successful "The Lone Wolf," and starring Billie Dove.

Dove the recent folies beauty, with Bert Lytell and an unusually strong supporting cast. The criticisms on this picture have been lavish in praise wherever it has been shown.

RENEE ADOREE HAS ANOTHER BIG ROLE IN "BLARNEY"

Renée Adoree, whose work as Melba, the heroine of "The Big Parade," has been generally rated as one of the outstanding performances of the past year, has another big role, the feminine lead of "Blarney," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming to the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Adoree's commanding position in the favor of film fans seems assured by the artistry of her portrayals in her last two pictures and her role in the De Sano picture is in answer to the insistent clamor of her admirers that she be given more important parts.

The cast of her latest picture includes Ralph Graves, the hero, Paulette Goddard, Malcolm Waite and Margaret Siodon.

JAPAN GIRLS PROTESTED

Japan's new code for protecting its young girls from informal marriage alliances gives them definite rights as a result of which the "Madame Butterfly" is apt to pass from the picture. Under the new code foreign men may not make these informal alliances and suddenly abandon the girls without expecting to be called to account. Compensation is now allowed the girl who has been promised marriage and then abandoned.

JAPANESE OUTCASTS IN FIGHT FOR EQUALITY

Tokyo (AP)—In Japan there is a class known as "subeisha" which has been social outcasts since the beginning of the country. It is composed of butchers, cobblers, undertakers and crematorium employees. At present there are more than 2,000,000 of these outcasts in the empire.

For some time they have been demanding emancipation from their lowly plane and prominent Japanese have been enlisted in their cause. All organization known as "The Society for Research on the Problem of Harmonization" has been formed by leading Diet members for the purpose of bringing about social freedom for the outcasts.

JARVIS FAMILY HOLDS RAT CATCHING RECORD

London (AP)—England's rat catching record is held by the Jarvis family three of whom are girls. Bags of 700 to 1,000 rats a week are nothing out of the ordinary for the Jarviss.

Misses Nell and Kitty Jarvis, 21 and 23 respectively, are on the rat catching job every night in the week, often assisted by their sister Rose, who is twelve. They also accept extermination jobs where catching mice and black beetles are concerned.

The girls come by their rat catching abilities quite naturally, as they were taught by their father, John Jarvis, official rat catcher to the London county council and to most of the government offices.

Jarvis claims to be the only rat catcher in Great Britain whose father and mother and grandfathers on both sides have followed the same trade. His wife also has been a rat catcher 25 years. There are two boys, in addition to the girls, who assist in the work.

CARDINAL BOARD OF STRATEGY PLANS TO STOP BAMBINO RUTH

Interest in Big Classic Increases With Series Evened on Wednesday

St. Louis, Mo. (P)—Boards of strategy of the Cardinals Thursday were in conference to devise ways and means, if any, to curb the home run activities of George Herman Ruth. As preparations went forward for the fifth and last game of the series in St. Louis, the big bat of the slugging Ruth was regarded as a distinct menace to St. Louis aspirations for world supremacy in baseball.

The home run situation was entirely out of the control in the fourth of the series, when Ruth three times hit for the circuit and so inspired his mates that a 10-5 Yankee victory made the series all even again.

Cardinal rosters thought that Ruth's impressive offensive Wednesday could be diagnosed as only a light attack of fever for that portion of the St. Louis pitching staff, five in number called to labor during the afternoon. Yankee enthusiasts insisted that it was a stroke of paralysis.

Ruth's record breaking series of long distance blows drew unstinted applause from the greatest crowd ever assembled in a St. Louis baseball park—the paid attendance being 38,825. Many of the assembly came to scoff and remained to cheer.

The fifth game was promised fair weather with rising temperature. Only fresh pitchers were expected to replace the overworked corps on duty Wednesday. Hefey and Douthitt, who did a tumbling act in the fourth inning, completed a recovery that was begun soon after their collision for both distinguished themselves later in a game which developed few Cardinal features. Each hit safely and Douthitt threw out a runner at the plate.

For pitching choices Thursday Managers Huggins and Hornsby were expected to turn back to the page of the score book, showing the opening game of the series when Herb Pennock downed Willie Sherdel 2 to 1. There was a possibility that Hornsby at the last minute might call on Grover Cleveland Alexander, but Sherdel was regarded as the more likely nominee with Alexander saved for service at the Stadium Saturday.

Wednesday's result drew the loudest cheers from representative of railroads, under tentative contract to transport both ball clubs and others interested in the play back to New York to close baseball file for the year. Special trains were scheduled to leave immediately after Thursday's game and due to reach New York early Friday evening.

The fourth game resulted in merit badges for Babe Ruth and demerits for the Cardinal pitchers. Playing his seventh world's series Ruth is in a position to reach record for the classic. Other incidents out of the ordinary cropped out at frequent intervals. Outturners recalled when Hefey and Douthitt collided that a similar mishap befell two St. Louis outfielders in the opening game of the 1925 world's series. Mussel became dizzy in the midst of the game and had to come in from right field for a drink of water and some vigorous fanning from a trainer. Throughout the game Cardinal and Yankee players either over estimated their speed or underestimated the throwing ability of their opponents. They fell by the wayside at the plate, third and second base, trying to score or stretch hits.

With the series again deadlocked speculation became apparent. Yankee rosters declared that Ruth is the barometer of his team's attacking power and when he hits home run hits mates may be depended upon to at least drive out singles.

Cardinal supporters countered with the observation that the National League has two great pitchers left, Sherdel and Alexander and that Ruth has done no home run hitting at the expense of either.

B. B. Johnson, president of the American League, went on record with a prediction that the Yankees will surely win.

"They've got to win and they will," he said. Men who let their dollars talk to them were willing to wager 5 to 4 against the chances of either Yankees or Cards and 2½ to 1 against either winning the next two games.

Hoople Told Babe How To Hit His Three Home Runs

BY MAJOR HOOPLE

Sportsman Park, St. Louis, Mo.—Egad, folks, a bit of confidential news today. Immediately after yesterday's contest I was summoned by special messenger for a conference with Mr. Huggins, the Yankee manager. The problem in mind was to overcome a bit of strategy the Cardinals resorted to in holding Mr. Babe Ruth harmless with his mighty bludgeon.

It seems the Cardinals hurlers were instructed to toss the Babe a slow floater ball, a mean and difficult sphere to hit. After pondering the matter over for a few minutes I struck upon a clever and unique idea. I suggested that Babe Ruth be outfitted with a special pair of eyeglasses, equipped with two high speed lenses, borrowed from some obliging press photographers Graflex cameras. Such a pair of glasses would create an optical illusion, to which he could adjust himself in the batters box. When the slow floater ball was hurled, the glasses would seemingly speed up the action of the ball, and all Babe had to do then would be to bash out his customary home run, haw. My suggestion was taken by Mr. Huggins with unbounded enthusiasm.

By Jove, the game. First two batters were struck out, and the crowd acted in the manner of the old bloodthirsty Romans at a matinee performance in the Coliseum. Egad, then Babe Ruth hits. He first ball tossed for a home run over the right field wall.

In some manner, the Cardinals learned of my talk last evening with Mr. Huggins, and instructed Mr. Rhen, the pitcher, to hurl fast balls to the Babe. On the way to the batters box, Babe discarded the glasses. By the way folks, in appreciation of my suggestion, Babe glanced up to my seat and dedicated his first home run to me. It was later located on the roof of a nearby Brewery. On Babe's next trip to bat, the St. Louis hurler resorted to the old strategy of the slow floater ball, and Babe also hit the first one thrown, over the wall again. You see, Babe had worn my special glasses during batting practice, and naturally carried the optical impression in his mind. This explains his second home run. Yes, hm-hm.

In the fifth inning a third Cardinal hurler was called to pitch after a parade of walks was started by the Yank players. Three on base and none out. The man Hornsby should have called in to get out of such a predicament, would be Houdini, Egad. During the sixth inning just to prove that his first homer over the right field stand were not boomer home runs, he drove a bottled in bond homer in the center field bleachers no doubt the longest drive seen in St. Louis since the last community chest drive, by Jove.

Bye the bye folks, as I was busily engaged in a scientific discussion last night with Uncle Jake King and George White of Dallas, Texas, I forgot to predict the winner of today's contest. So the matters was left to the two teams to decide between themselves. It most certainly appears that the Yanks won the game. Ah yes.

I have just vagered a very fine cheeroot given me by Jacob Ruppert, that the Cardinals will come back and win tomorrow's game, crad. Bear me out on that folks (the old boy has been borne out on many another occasion—Lindbergs note).

HERB PENNOCK'S WORK RECALLS OTHER YEARS

New York—Herb Pennock's sensational pitching in the opening game of the world series recalled other great hurling performances in classics of the past.

One of the most notable perhaps was that dished up by Ed Reulbach while hurling for the Chicago Cubs against the White Sox in 1906. Reulbach allowed the enemy but one safe hit. In the same series Ed Walsh of the White Sox and "Minnor" Brown, Cubs catcher, turned in two-hit feats.

In the 1910 playoff between Cincinnati and Chicago, Dicky Kerr of the Chicago team and Jimmy Ring and "Hod" Eller of the Reds, doled out three-hit performances.

Tommy O'Neil, Cleveland, knocked out Al Marchant, Detroit (2).

OPENN BOASTS SPEED MERCHANT IN SCULL

Pennsylvania football team has an exceptionally fast man in Kollwell. Scull starred on the Quaker track aggregation, the century being his specialty. He plays end on the grid and his speed makes him a valuable fellow to have around when Young's eleven starts shooting forward passes.

CITY FIXED SEWERS, PREVENTED FLOODING

Although there were some cellars flooded during the recent heavy rains, according to R. F. Hackworth, street commissioner, much trouble was prevented because of foresight of the department. All catch basins were cleaned out after the warning of the heavy rains had been received and at places where trouble was known to have been experienced during former rains, the sewers were flushed. As a result the sewers were better able to handle the storm water.

DEMOCRATS VISION PARTY REVIVAL IN WEST AND MIDWEST

Minnesota and Oregon Promise Better Things in Near Future

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—Democrats today saw a chance for a revival of their party in the West, where it has all but disappeared, being swallowed up for the most part by the Farmer-Labor party.

Two states, Minnesota and Oregon, promise better things immediately for the Democrats. Another, Wisconsin, while offering little hope this year, has a brighter aspect for the future.

In Oregon, due to the Independent candidacy of Senator Stanford, the Democrats expect to elect Ben Henry, former member of the Shipping Board to the senate.

With the Blaine-LaFollette grip on Wisconsin broken through the defeat of its gubernatorial candidate, Democrats see a division of the Badger state along party lines as a probability within the next two years.

"But the bright spot for the Democrats is in Minnesota where a few days ago twelve Farmer-Labor leaders headed by Oscar Beckhe, State President of the Farmers' Nonpartisan League, made public a 'round robin' calling on the rank and file of the Farmer-Labor party and vote for the Democratic candidates."

The statement recites that "Progressives" in various states have been successful in elections by going into the Democratic and Republican parties and "using the balance-of-power plan," while Minnesota "progressives" have been steadily losing ground with a third party.

Signers with Brekke included the chairman and secretaries of the party, two of their strongest county officers, the editor of the Minnesota Leader, official organ of the Nonpartisan League; publicists and Farmer-Labor club organizers. The Nonpartisan League, at one time having 67,000 dues paying members, was mainly responsible for building the Farmer-Labor party.

This concerted movement to abandon the Farmer-Labor party is headed by the farmer wing of the organization. The present campaign leaders, in control throughout the state, are mainly leaders headed by William McGinnis, editor of the Minnesota Leader, and William Mahoney, of St. Paul, editor of the Minnesota Union Advocate.

The "round robin," after telling of the late Robert LaFollette's crushing defeat for the presidency as an independent candidate in 1924, recites that a third party for years to come. This is a two-party nation, and we Progressives must unite into one of them and use the balance of power, as they successfully do in other states."

Minnesota is the only state that has strong and pure party.

The Farmer-Laborites sent Senator Henrik Shipstead to Washington in 1922, when he defeated Frank B. Kellogg, now secretary of state, by 33,000 majority. In a special election in 1923 Magnus Johnson, present candidate for governor, defeated J. A. O. Freus, then Republican governor, by more than 95,000 majority for the senate, all candidates for reelection this year.

Although these victories were won in past elections, the party has shown serious signs of disintegration since LaFollette's defeat in 1924. In this year's primary the Farmer-Labor vote fell from 204,000 to 155,000, while the Republican vote increased from 233,000 in 1924 to 400,000 this year. The Democratic party has no primary contests in the state at large, so no basis of Democratic distribution of votes is available.

Democrats have no illusion about getting on even terms with the Republican in Wisconsin, but they feel that they can have an organization that can "give battle to the enemy" and once in awhile elect state officers.

Democrats are hopeful that the coming session of the legislature will amend the Wisconsin primary law, which they assert is always a threat of disenfranchisement to the minority party.

LITTLE CHUTE FORMS CREDIT RATING BUREAU

Organization of a credit bureau at Little Chute was undertaken by the businessmen of that village at a meeting last week. A. T. Rock was elected president, H. J. Stark vice president, John C. Schommer secretary and John J. Van Handle treasurer.

The organization probably will be known as the Credit Information Bureau, although the name has not yet been definitely chosen, according to Mr. Schommer. Another meeting at which the name will be selected and by-laws adopted will be held either Thursday or Friday evening.

C. E. Behnke, referee in bankruptcy, addressed the business men at their meeting last week.

CHIEFS OF POLICE MEETING OPENS AT MILWAUKEE OCT. 13

Zimmerman Heads List of Speakers at Annual State Convention

The Nineteenth annual convention of Wisconsin Chiefs of Police will open at Milwaukee on Oct. 13 for a two day session replete with entertainment and business features of a scope never before attempted by the organization. It was announced by Chief George T. Prim, president of the group, Tuesday.

Heading an imposing list of speakers is Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state, who will deliver an half an hour address on the automobile licensing and tax question. Mayor Daniel Hoan, Milwaukee, will welcome the visiting sleuths to his city and Police Chief Jacob Laubenhimer, also of Milwaukee, has arranged an extensive tour of the city for the wives and families of the officials during the afternoon of the first day.

Chief Prim will make the opening speech of the symposium and Don McKay, attorney law enforcement officer of Waukesha, secretary of the organization will call roll. The Appleton chief will respond to the address of welcome by the Cream City mayor.

Phil Graue, Milwaukee association of commerce, according to the program, will talk on traffic conditions and the willingness of business and industrial magnates to cooperate in police work.

Two luncheons, a parade through the city, discussion of police problems and methods and round table mark the high lights of the convention.

The main social event will be a banquet given at the Plankinton hotel, headquarters, on the evening of the first day.

Objects of the association are: Exchange of ideas, closer association of police chiefs, betterment of police departments, law welfare of communities and a general betterment of affairs under police supervision.

George T. Prim, Appleton, is president; F. W. Gilman, Evansville, vice president and Don McKay, secretary and treasurer. The executive committee is comprised of Thomas R. Malone, Thomas F. Curry, Thomas Callahan, William Logan, Anton Trochell, and Richard H. McCarty, chief of police of Kaukauna.

WEEDS, BRUSH HIGH ON COUNTRY ROADS

Rural carriers at the Appleton post-office report that weeds and brush along the side roads throughout the county are high and interfere with travel. Usually these weeds are cut by the farmers, left to dry and burned in fall. This year, however, because of the heavy rains, the farmers have been unable to spare the time, as every minute was needed in an attempt to get crops harvested. As a result some of the side roads are in a bad condition.

Stomach Trouble Gone, Bakes 40 Pies

"I was a nervous wreck with stomach trouble. Had dizzy spells and could scarcely walk. I began taking Adlerka, and now I run a restaurant and bake 40 pies a day. When my friends ask how I do, I tell them about Adlerka."—Mrs. L. Amrol.

Adlerka differs from most medicines because it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. It gives the system a REAL cleansing, and clears out old poisons which usually cause sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. Just ONE spoonful stops GAS, and relieves that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerka brings out much additional poison which you never guessed was in your system and which may have long caused trouble. No matter what you have tried for stomach and bowels, Adlerka will surprise you. At leading druggists. In Appleton at Voigt's Drug Store, and other Druggists. Adv.

Senate Investigators Likely To Split Report

SENATE INVESTIGATORS 24.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington — Senator Jim Reed's committee of investigation into primary election expenditures probably will make two reports, it appears, when Congress meets.

The members will meet in Washington directly after election. Until then there is no way of telling with absolute certainty how they stand, but the line of cleavage is pretty evident.

Sensors Reed and King, Democrats, and Senator La Follette, an Independent Republican, for one way, Senators McNary and Goff, regular Republicans, show signs of dissenting.

William S. Vare and Frank L. Smith, the two candidates especially criticized for what they spent to get senatorial nominations in Pennsylvania and Illinois respectively, both are Republicans of the very regular pattern.

Reed, King and La Follette assuredly will oppose letting them have Senate seats if they're elected. McNary and Goff can hardly fail to agree that expenditures as large as Vare's and Smith's are bad business, but they may take the position that no evidence of actual corruption has been shown and that, lacking it, the exclusion of the pair from the Senate would be overdoing matters.

Reed and La Follette, as opponents of prohibition, are almost sure also to take a sharp dig at the Anti-Saloon League for its political activities.

McNary and Goff, as drys, probably will say the league has done nothing to be blamed for.

King's attitude is rather doubtful. His sympathies are supposed to be dryish, but his tendency will be to flock with Reed and La Follette.

Procedure in the Vare and Smith cases is a good deal of a problem. Inasmuch as the committee intends to report in December, it seems to be going on the assumption that the present Congress will act. Some senators have said that it can and should, on the strength of the mere announcement that the two have been elected—if they are elected.

On the other hand, Senator Ernest, chairman of the Senate committee on privileges and elections, says Vare and Smith won't be elected, if at all, to the 69th Congress, but to the 70th, so it will be none of the 69th's affair.

Ernest has considerable support in senatorial circles.

Another question is whether Vare and Smith—always assuming their election—shall have a hearing at all. One group favors telling them that they can't take their seats. The other contends that they must be seated and then their right to keep the seats can be attacked.

In the former case they can't even put up a fight. In the latter, they can defend themselves and perhaps string it out for a year or two, serving as regular senators in the meantime.

Headcounts received at both party headquarters indicate that Vare and Smith doubtless will lose a great many votes because of the threat that they will not be seated in any event, but that Smith will lose more than Vare.

The former's candidacy even is considered in some danger. Vare is regarded as likely to win at the polls, though by far less than the normal Pennsylvania Republican majority.

Under the heading of material progress the physical improvements of the school are considered with an especial stressing of sanitary conditions and building improvements.

The school gaining the largest total score will win the coveted playground apparatus.

In the entire state 25 counties are represented and a total of 133 individual schools.

CHESTER WHITES LEADING IN TON LITTER CONTEST

Herd of August Speerschnieder, Brown-co, Is Tentative Champion

Madison — A dozen thoroughbred Chester white pigs of the same litter weighing 3,095 pounds have made August Speerschnieder, New Franklin, Brown-co, the tentative champion of the fourth annual Ton Litter contest conducted by the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders association in cooperation with the Wisconsin college of agriculture.

His record may be broken however before the summer is over according to H. J. Brant, animal husbandman of the college and state leader of the contest.

"There are a number of litters," Mr. Brant said, "which show promise of equaling the record by Mr. Speerschnieder. While we have only 69 entries in the contest this year as compared to 75 last year, the contestants are more experienced, having entered litters in the previous contests."

"This year there are 30 counties represented in the contest. Last year there were 26 and the first year, 1922, there were litters from only 22 counties."

"The record in Wisconsin for the heaviest litter of pigs at the end of 150 days is held by Miss Hilda Hanold, a member of the 4H club at Richland Center. In last year's contest, she succeeded in bringing a dozen grade, spotted Poland China pigs up to 3,124 pounds, the highest record made so far in the state."

The entire this year consist of litters farrowed between February 1 and July 1 of this year. Litters entered later than that are not eligible to compete for the 1926 prizes, but may win the 1927 prizes. The cash prizes for the five heaviest litters in the state at the 150 days of age will be: first, $30; second, $25; third, $20; fourth, $15; and fifth, $10.

Weighting of the pigs is done by the county agent or by a committee of two or more disinterested persons selected by the county agent or the state leader of the contest.

The farmers producing a litter of pigs weighing a ton or more, at the age of six months, are awarded a medal and certificate.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

603 STATE FACTORIES MANUFACTURE TOBACCO

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Washington, D. C.—A total of 603 factories in Wisconsin are engaged in tobacco manufactures, the Department of Commerce announced. Of these 548 manufacture cigars and 55 tobacco and snuff.

In 1925 Wisconsin manufactured 67,571,238 cigars, 1,112,429 pounds of smoking tobacco, 13,203 pounds of snuff, 2,140 pounds of twist and 455 pounds of fine cut.

The 5-cent cigar has come only a little way of the distance back in Wisconsin, the report indicated. The Cager state manufactured only 14,069,525 cigars intended to sell for less than 5 cents at retail. It manufactured 4,034,354 to sell at above 5 cents, but less than eight cents; 43,449,234 at more than eight cents, but not more than 15 cents; 188,535 at more than 15 cents, but not more than 20 cents; and 37,620 to be sold at more than 20 cents.

Internal revenue collected on Wisconsin tobacco manufactures in 1925 amounted to $316,601, of which $479,812 was on cigars.

Wisconsin, New England and Pennsylvania, the three leading producers of cigar tobacco, each furnishes about the same quantity, the report said.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
The LANES are an average American family. There is MRS. LANE, fat, middle-aged, sickly. MR. LANE, a carpenter, trying to land a small contracting job with a young business man, BOB HATHAWAY, who has been in the dining room. JUNIOR, irresponsible, wild. FAITH, 20, the say-at-home drudge, tall, splendidly built, but not pretty. CHERRY, a stenographer, beautiful, with strange topaz eyes. And JOY, 9 years old, impudent and irrepressible.

Cherry and Junior—nicknamed Long Lane—have both lost their jobs, and Cherry sets out to find a new one, driving downtown with CHESTER HART, Faith's own "steady," whom Cherry has succeeded in "vamping." While cleaning house and preparing for Bob Hathaway's visit for dinner, Faith finds a letter under Cherry's door from a traveling man from Indianapolis, whom Cherry has picked up, although she has a swarm of home-town suitors.

Both Faith and Cherry are charmed with Bob Hathaway, but Hathaway's eyes are riveted with admiration upon Cherry, who manages to make it appear that she prepared the delicious dinner herself. Faith, in an effort to prevent Cherry's walking away with this man as she has with all others, tries to flirt with Bob, but despises herself for her cheap play for him. She is invited by Hathaway to accompany him and Cherry to a movie, but realizes she is not really wanted.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV
"Thanks very much," Faith said evenly, her eyes looking steadily into Bob Hathaway's. "I'd love to go, but I really have to go over the household accounts tonight. I'm sure you and Cherry will have a good time—with out me," she added, with the barest trace of emphasis.

But the eager relief with which Bob Hathaway turned to Cherry made her feel faint with anger and humiliation. When the two had gone, Cherry's light, musical laugh blending with the rich bass of his own delight, Faith stood in the hot living room for a long moment, with her hands clenched so tightly that her nails bruised her palms.

From the front porch, where her mother and father were abandoned to their ease, came Mrs. Lane's satisfied comment: "Cherry sure made a hit with that nice Mr. Hathaway."

Faith could hear her father's grunt of relief as he drew his shoes from his swollen, hot feet and dropped them heavily to the floor. "It was Faith that oughta made the hit," he told his wife, in his tired, slow voice. "Cookin' up that grand supper for him, and all. I'd like to see Cherry settle down, though. And Hathaway's a fine fellow. Got a head on him, he has. And money in the bank."

Faith, with an almost passionate gesture of rebellion, flung her arms above her head, then as suddenly slumped into a chair at the library table and buried her face in her hands. "How much did the bills come to last week, Faith?" her father called from the porch.

"I was just going to check the charge slips," Faith answered. From a drawer of the library table she took out the clipped checks of bills, and began to check them with frowning intentness.

Eighteen dollars and sixty cents for groceries for one week! And that didn't include the butcher's bill and the dairy bill.

"Mother, here's a charge of twenty cents for cookies on the tenth. Let's see, that was Saturday, wasn't it? I didn't buy any cakes."

"Maybe Schultz made a mistake," her mother's voice came back complainingly. "I wish you'd trade at that cash-and-carry store, Faith. Schultz is always overcharging us."

"We can't," Faith interrupted grimly.

"You know we're always behind with the grocery bill anyway, and Schultz is the only grocer who will wait for his money. Did you buy any cakes on Saturday, or marshmallows on Friday? I'm sure I didn't."

"Oh, yes, I remember now. I sent Joy for them. That little Stegar girl was here Saturday and the children wanted to have a tea party. The Stegars are awful high-toned folks, Faith. I didn't want Cora Stegar tellin' her Ma that Joy didn't have a bite in the house for a tea party!"

"I wish you wouldn't let Joy charge things without telling me, Mother. I suppose she charged the marshmallows, too."

"I eat them myself—me and Joy," Mrs. Lane assented defiantly. "It's a pretty comeoff if I can't have a bite of candy when I'm cravin' it, without askin' my daughter's permission—"

"All right, Mother. Of course you can. I just wanted to know," Faith tried to make her voice sound cheery, but she was tired, so tired.

"Butcher, $6.17. Goodness knows that's as little as anyone could expect for six hungry people," she muttered to herself. "Round steak's gone up again. We'll have to have stew oftener—only eighteen cents a pound. And that chuck roast wasn't bad, but it took twice as much gas to cook it."

Her frowning worry over the bills was broken into by the shrill clamor of the telephone bell.

"Who was that?" her mother called out impatiently, when Faith had seated herself again at the table, to go on with her work.

"He didn't give his name," Faith replied guardedly. "He wanted to speak to Cherry."

"My land, I never saw a girl as popular as she is," Mrs. Lane chuckled.

Faith took the pin of the dairy's charge slips and scanned them quickly. "My Lord! Sixty cents for whipping cream!" she said to herself.

"We'll be in the poor house if Cherry doesn't quit bringing so many men home to dinner. Five pounds of butter, at sixty cents a pound, seven quarts of milk at sixteen cents, five dozen eggs—total $7.12. We'll have to cook it."

cut that down. But if I don't have bacon and eggs every morning for breakfast, they all howl as if I were starving them—I wonder if Chris didn't."

"What's the total damages, Faith?" her father's voice was anxious under its attempt at jocularity.

"Grocer, butcher and dairy, $31.89," Faith told him apologetically. "I'll try to keep it down to twenty-five all week to make up for tonight's company dinner."

"I can give you only twenty dollars of it, honey." He came padding in on his stocking feet, and laid four five-dollar bills on the table. "You know I only worked four days this week, but I've got a little over a hundred coming to me on that Front Street job. Pay 'em all something on account, and tell 'em I'll settle up in a few days. Come along to bed, Martha. Gettin' late."

When Mrs. Lane came waddling in to the living room, waving her palm leaf fan, Faith rose and kissed her on the cheek.

"Goodnight, Mother. You'd better take a dose of bromide, so you'll sleep better. I'll bring you in a pitcher of nice, cold lemonade in just a minute."

"You're a good girl, Faith," Mrs. Lane patted the girl's shoulder. "It was real sweet of you to let Cherry have her chance at Bob Hathaway. him being so smitten with her and all. But I wish you'd find a nice young man to take you out more. You're lookin' real peaked."

"Oh, I'm all right, Mother," Faith's voice choked with sudden tears. Her mother's rare demonstrations of tenderness always completely unnerved her.

After her mother and father were asleep, Faith stretched her tired body in a long, canvas deck chair in a vine-darkened corner of the porch. A slight breeze sprang up, and gradually she drifted into a light sleep.

She was awakened by the tinkle of Cherry's subdued laughter. The girl stood with one hand on the screen door of the living room, her lovely face, ethereal in the moonlight, upturned to Bob Hathaway's adoring gaze.

"Thank you for the loveliest drive, Bob," she whispered. "I'm so glad we didn't go to a silly old movie. I feel as if I had known you for ages. Isn't that strange?" With an appearance of shy impetuosity, she suddenly stood on tiptoe, and ran her fingers through the crisp waves of her chestnut hair. "I've been wanting to do that all evening, Bob! Oh, dear, you'll think I'm terrible!" she laughed softly.

The man's arms went out, were about to grasp her, but Cherry swung open the screen door and darted into the living room, closing the door after her. Through the wire meshes, her musical voice came teasingly: "No, you don't, Mister Hathaway! See you Thursday—Bob."

"You're the most adorable little witch I ever saw," he said huskily. Faith watched him stride swiftly down the gravelled path to his car, swing his long legs into the driver's seat without opening the door, then start the car with expert ease.

When he was safely away, Faith followed Cherry into the living room, her eyes stern and accusing.

"Don't you think, Cherry," she began, before the startled girl had a chance to speak, "that you're going pretty far with a man you have just met? Haven't you any sense of decency at all?"

"So you were listening, were you?" Cherry's little pointed nails dug into the smooth whiteness of Faith's bare arm. "If that isn't just like you! Jealous, that's all! Do you think I'm blind? It was as plain as the nose on your face that you had fallen for Bob Hathaway, and because he couldn't see you at all, you spied on me!" The topaz eyes were blazing like an angry cat's.

"I waited up to tell you that Chris Wiley had called you," Faith flung Cherry's hand from her chestnut hair. "I've been wanting to do that all evening, Bob! Oh, dear, you'll think I'm terrible!" she laughed softly.

pitcher of nice, cold lemonade in just a minute."

"You're a good girl, Faith," Mrs. Lane patted the girl's shoulder. "It was real sweet of you to let Cherry have her chance at Bob Hathaway. him being so smitten with her and all. But I wish you'd find a nice young man to take you out more. You're lookin' real peaked."

"Oh, I'm all right, Mother," Faith's voice choked with sudden tears. Her mother's rare demonstrations of tenderness always completely unnerved her.

THE FUN SHOP COURSE IN STENOGRAPHY Lesson II The Boss Orders. Business men often use a code in speaking to their stenographers. If the stenographer knows the following code she can en- into her duties without questions or delay: "Will you take this letter"—Means "My heart yearns when you smile at me like that, kiddie!" "Look in the files for the Smith and Jones correspondence"—Means "Give me just one kiss while we're in here all alone." "Have we a record of this transaction?"—Means "How about a dance and supper afterwards?" Other Duties. Always be pleasant in your relations with the boss, but demand overtime if you cuddle after five o'clock. A stenog has her rights! Petting Systems. Every boss has his own system of petting, and it may be necessary for you to learn a new method. THE FUN SHOP method is

TONNAGE ON WOLF RIVER IS LIGHTER

Former Excursion Boats Have Disappeared and Freight Traffic Is Small

Special to Post-Crescent
Fremont—There have been more boats and launches passing by here up the Wolf River this year than there has been for many years. They go to New London and other up river points. The one-time popular excursions up the Wolf are a thing of the past, for there wasn't one real excursion on the river during the past year. Very little freight if any is now transported by boat from Oshkosh, whereas a few years ago much freight was brought to Fremont by the river. Some wood is hauled from up river to down river points. The log jams that used to fill the river here a number of years ago are now unknown and when logs are floated down in the spring, it is in the only small quantities.

For Head Colds

THERE are many ways to treat a cold in the head, but only one DIRECT way, and that is with vapors that can be inhaled.

The easiest and most satisfying way to get these vapors is to snuff a little Vicks VapoRub, well up the nose, or mix a little in a spoon or tin cup and inhale.

The medicated vapors reach immediately into every corner of the passages, soothing and healing with every breath.

For other forms of cold troubles just rub Vicks over the throat and chest at bedtime. "It's then the body heat which releases these vapors."

COUNCIL DECIDES ON TYPE OF LIGHTS FOR NEW BOULEVARD

First Installation of 25 Lights to Be Made on S. Cherry-st This Fall

Special plans for the ornamental lighting system to be installed on S. Cherry-st for which bids may be advertised will be prepared by the street lighting committee in accordance with action taken by the common council Wednesday night. The committee was advised by the council at the recommendation of the committee of the whole.

Tentative plans outlining the idea, which will be carried out in the system were presented to the council by the committee. They consist of a row of lights on each side of the boulevard, with installation in the future of another row on the outside edge of both pavements, making four rows of lights in all.

The first installation, which will be made this fall, will consist of approximately 25 lights, it is expected. They will be placed about 250 feet apart. Three of the lights will be erected at the southern extremity of S. Cherry-st where it meets Forest, one light to be located in each angle of the triangle formed at the intersection.

Two cables instead of one probably will be laid to permit turning off part of the lights late at night but allowing the remainder to burn all night. After midnight or 1 o'clock traffic is not heavy enough to demand illumination from the entire system, the committee believes.

The system most favored by the committee is one light mounted on a pole. The cluster lights are growing less in favor throughout the country, it is said.

The committee will attempt to have its plans ready for presentation at the next council meeting.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR SIGNAL LIGHTS

Langstadt Electric Company Gets Business on $1,100 Bid

Contract for the traffic light signals to be erected at the corner of College-ave and Oneida-st was awarded the Langstadt Electric Co. Wednesday night by the common council on a bid of approximately $1,100. The price offered by the Art-Killoren Electric Co., the other bidder, was approximately $100 more.

The circle shaped lights, visible from both sides of the box in which they are mounted and equipped with vision to aid visibility in the face of the sun, were selected by the council over the rectangular shaped signals. They will be installed at once.

Both bidders displayed their signals at the intersection during the past month at the instruction of the council. The Art-Killoren Electric Co. was the first to make the installation, while the lights of the successful bidder have been in place temporarily for the past two weeks.

Contract for the purchase of a police supervisory system was awarded the Gamewell Fire Alarm and Telegraph Co. Newton Upper Falls, Mass. for $13,253. Work of installing the system, consisting of 12 call boxes located about the city, will be started within three or four weeks or as soon as the material can be shipped to the city, it was indicated by a representative of the firm. The city will pay half of the purchase price at the time the materials arrive and the remainder when the installation is completed, according to terms of the contract.

FAIR CROWD HEARS ARTILLERY BAND

Short Notice Keeps Down Attendance at First Indoor Concert

Only a fair-sized crowd attended the first indoor concert of the 120th Field Artillery band Tuesday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel. The short advance notice given the concert was responsible, according to Edward F. Mumm, leader. A varied program was played with popular numbers as encores.

Creame de la Creame was the opening selection. Valencia was played as an encore with the selection well received. Selections from the opera, The Royal Chef, were played next with Gumme A Little Kiss as an encore. The Egyptian Ballet from the opera Anthony and Cleopatra, followed with I Love You as an encore.

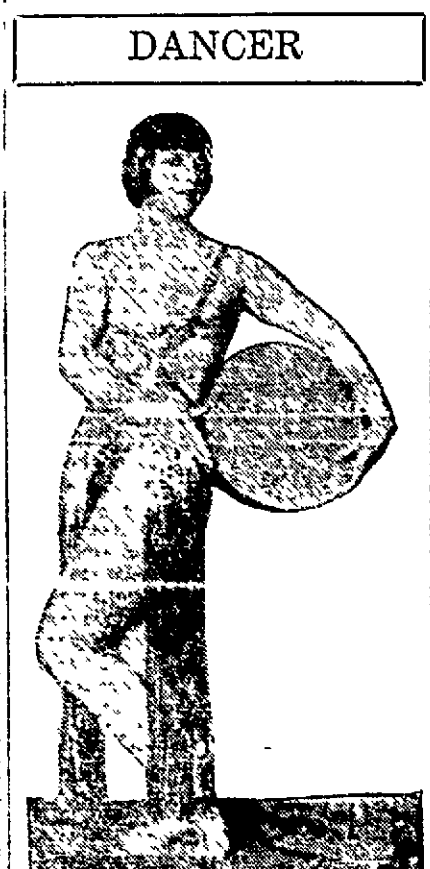

After an intermission a request number, the Chicago Tribune March, was played followed by selections from the Prince of Pilsen. The Cavalry Charge, a descriptive military fantasia, ended the program and was well received by the audience. Several other encores also were played.

The next concert will be played at Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday evening, Nov. 2.

ENGLAND RECOVERS LENS FAME

England is again taking its leadership in the production of optical lenses. From 1848 to 1850 England led the world in the manufacture of the eye-sight aids, but lost this supremacy to Germany and France by the time of the World War. Due to the war, however, research was again instituted and today England has taken its place as a leader in the field again. Now nine tons of optical glass are being produced each month, or enough to supply its needs even for the finest lenses.

COUNTRY EDITORS PLAN MID-WINTER MEET IN FEBRUARY

Will Study Means to Bring About a "Better Distributed Wisconsin"

Madison—(P)—Country editors of Wisconsin will take up the cudgel at the Mid-Winter meeting here in February to bring about a "better distributed Wisconsin."

Consideration of the question of the high centralization in cities, which they say are being built up at the expense of the country, will take place at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Press association then.

The view taken by many leading economists and writers of the United States that high centralization is detrimental to country communities, will be localized to apply to Wisconsin by the members of the association, according to officials in charge of the program.

The meeting will be held at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. The program for the conference will be developed by President John Kuyper, Do Pere, editor of the Journal-Democrat, L. H. Zimmerman, secretary and editor of the Burlington Standard Democrat, and Prof. A. W. Hopkins of the agricultural school of journalism.

More than 150 rural newspapermen will attend the meeting. Prof. A. W. Hopkins said. Prof. Hopkins is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Many of them will bring the best examples of their front pages for criticism by the school of journalism. Papers will be divided into three classes in judging the makeup and appearance of their front pages. The three classes are: towns of 750 or less; towns of 750 to 1,500; and 1,500 or more.

Editorial pages will also be brought for judging. The quality of the editorials, interest, and practical value to the small town will be standards by which the pages will be judged. On the basis that any editor's opinion is as good as his brother editor's, the judging of editorial pages will be made in one class, no differentiation being made between the larger and smaller papers.

Problems of newsgathering, circulation, advertising, makeup and editorial pages will also be discussed at various sessions.

BUDGET BOARD GETS PLEA FOR PAY BOOST

Council Refers It to Committee to Bring in Recommendation

The application of members of the city fire department for a monthly salary increase of $10 was forwarded to the budget committee for a recommendation by the common council Wednesday night at its first session of the month.

The application, referred to the fire and water committee at the previous meeting, was returned to the council with the committee's approval but with the recommendation that it be forwarded to the budget committee. The fire and water committee held it had no jurisdiction over the matter.

An increase in salary was asked by the firemen last year but was refused because the application was not presented until after the budget for 1926 had been prepared. The last year was granted the department about two years ago.

Permission was granted Joseph A. Hodgins, city sealer of weights and measures, to attend a conference of city and state sealers of weights and measures at Madison the latter part of the week.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsion of creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other form of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

ONLY 4 OF 11 JURY CASES REACHED COURT

Although 11 jury cases were scheduled for hearing in municipal court during September only four actually reached the court, summary of the month reveals. None was particularly important, records show. Of the remainder several were adjourned to later dates and others apparently have been settled out of court, it was reported by Will Kress, municipal court reporter.

STUDY CHARACTER. BUILDING POSTERS

Signs Discussed at Teachers' Meeting May Be Used in Schools

Character building posters to be used in the public schools were discussed at the meeting of principals of the junior and senior high schools with Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, Tuesday at the superintendent's office. Tentative suggestions were made by the principals and H. H. Hebble, principal of Appleton high school, was appointed to study the matter and report at a future meeting of the group.

Fire prevention material issued by the National Board of Fire underwriters was distributed by the superintendent. The pamphlets and posters will be used as supplementary material in the safety instruction given by the teachers in the schools.

Social activities of the high schools were discussed, and the programs for extra curricular work were nearly completed. The suggestions will be presented to the board of education at a special educational meeting to be called soon, it was announced.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsion of creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other form of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

ONLY 4 OF 11 JURY CASES REACHED COURT

Although 11 jury cases were scheduled for hearing in municipal court during September only four actually reached the court, summary of the month reveals. None was particularly important, records show. Of the remainder several were adjourned to later dates and others apparently have been settled out of court, it was reported by Will Kress, municipal court reporter.

matter and report at a future meeting of the group.

Fire prevention material issued by the National Board of Fire underwriters was distributed by the superintendent. The pamphlets and posters will be used as supplementary material in the safety instruction given by the teachers in the schools.

Social activities of the high schools were discussed, and the programs for extra curricular work were nearly completed. The suggestions will be presented to the board of education at a special educational meeting to be called soon, it was announced.

Almost the only plant which produces toxic honey is the common palmetto. It was palmetto honey which poisoned the soldiers of Xenophon during their famous march through Asia Minor.
